BRYAN A HYPOCRITE

He Dares Not Turn Croker Down.

Roosevelt Asks Him to Prove His Words.

Governor's First Day of the Buckeye State Tour.

Bryan and Stevenson Welcomed by Tammany—Hanna's Busy Day.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLUMBUS (O.,) Oct. 16.—Not once since the great Blaine demonstration in 1884 has this city been so crowded with visitors as it is tonight, the occasion of the appearance here of Gov. Roosevelt. Every hotel is full, and hundreds of those who came to see or hear the Governor are being cared for at the homes of residents of Columbus. Ten speeches made to large audiences since leaving Cincinnati at 8 o'clock this morning had not impaired the Governor's vocal organs, nor did he show any evidence of fatigue when he was introduced at the Auditorium at 9:20 p.m. An impatient throng had been waiting nearly two hours to hear him.

The Roosevelt special arrived here at 7:20 o'clock, and for two hours the Governor rode in a brilliantly-illuminated electric car in a great parade which traversed High and other principal streets of this city. The parade was more than two hours passing a given point, and its course was marked by a blaze of colored fire, rockets, firing of cannon and bursting of bombs.

When he strode across the platform the Governor was greeted with a roar of applause. Yet he looked upon a smaller number of persons than composed the crowd that had been unable to find standing room in the building.

When Gov. Roosevelt rose to speak he was given such an enthusiastic greeting that for five minutes he could not make his voice heard in his endeavor to restore order.

Gov. Roosevelt severely criticised Bryan's attitude on the Philippine question, reviewed the history of Aguinaldo, pronouncing it a "carose of infamy." He quoted from President Jefferson's instructions to the commander of the American armies which took possession of the Louisiana purchase to show that the "consent of the governed" was not considered.

The Governor will leave Columbus tomorrow morning at 7:20 over the Hocking Valley road for his second day in Ohio.

Tomorrow night he will speak in Cleveland and at noon Thursday he will arrive in Wheeling, W. Va., having made twenty-seven speeches in Ohio.

TRIBUTE TO CAPT. HUSTON.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HAMILTON (O.,) Oct. 16.—At this place, twenty-five miles from Cincinnati, Gov. Roosevelt made the first stop today on his tour of Ohio, speaking to a large crowd. The Governor was escorted by Gov. Nash to the speaker's stand. A feature of the meeting was the presence on the platform of the mother of Capt. Huston of Oklahoma. Capt. Huston was an officer in Col. Roosevelt's regiment in the war with Spain, and on the breaking out of the trouble in the Philippines he went thither, where he died. Gov. Roosevelt escorted Mrs. Huston to the platform.

"I recall your noble son," he said, "and knew him well as a brave man and soldier."

"Yes, Governor," was the reply, "I gave my son to my country, and would give another if I were blessed with one."

Capt. Huston's body is buried here.

LARGE CROWD AT DAYTON.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DAYTON (O.,) Oct. 16.—When Gov. Roosevelt arrived in Dayton he was tendered a public reception at a hotel, and later was escorted by a parade to the fair grounds, where he addressed a large crowd. Stops had been made at Middletown and Miamisburg, where the Governor spoke to large audiences, at the latter place using the front porch of the Miami Steel Company's main office as a platform.

PROSPERITY FIGURES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SPRINGFIELD (O.,) Oct. 16.—In his speech at Dayton, Gov. Roosevelt said:

"You have had four of the most prosperous years in your history. Here in Dayton the six largest factories in your city have handed me an abstract of the increase in their business. Their increase in the amount of wages paid during the four years, and the increase in business has been about at the rate of 140 per cent. on the average, and the pay in wages amounts, varying from 46 per cent. increase to 216 per cent. increase, the average increase in wages for the six factories being 92 per cent. Now let the business man and the worker compare that with Bryan's prophecies.

"I have driven out today, and in the carriages came men like Gen. Wood and Gen. Sickles—Gen. Sickles of my own State, a man who has been a Democrat, who was a Democratic Sheriff of New York county, but he was such a good one that Tammany did not altogether like him; a man who served his country in war and in peace, but who ceased to be identified with the Democracy when the Democracy went after false gods, and identified itself at home with the cause of dishonest money and disorder, and abroad anarchy, and abroad with the dishonor of the flag.

CHALLENGE TO BRYAN.

"Before you discuss differences of policy between great parties, you ought to know that the parties really stand for the policies they represent. In other words, the first thing to demand is whether the party or the party leader is sincere. Bryan has just been through this State. The other day he put on certain questions. I answered every question the day after. He cannot ask a question which I will not answer, nor can he raise an issue on which I will not meet him, because we are fortunate enough to know where we stand; we are fortunate enough in having issues that won't wear thin anywhere in this country. I asked Bryan four questions in return for the ten I have answered; he won't answer one. He has just moved to my own State to try and help that apostle of political

AID CAME AT LAST.

Capt. Shields and Men Saved.

Rebels Give Them Up After a Chase.

Americans Robbed and Abused by the Filipinos.

Leader of Company F Shot Three Times—Cable List of Its Casualties.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sun's Manila special, dated October 14, says the rescue of Capt. Devereaux Shields and fifty-one men of Co. F, Twenty-ninth Regiment, who were captured in September by insurgents in the Island of Marinduque, was due to the prompt, energetic and decisive campaign of the adequate force that was dispatched to their aid as soon as it was known that they had fallen into the hands of the enemy. Special credit for the rescue is due to Capt. Anderson, commanding Cos. B and D of the Thirty-eighth Regiment, who landed at Santa Cruz the very morning the insurgents demanded the surrender of the garrison that was besieged there.

Capt. Anderson immediately hit the trail of the rebels and captives, and followed it closely. Frequently, however, he unknowingly passed close to the prisoners and captors, who were doubling on their tracks. Gen. Hare, with 1100 men of the First Infantry shortly afterward arrived and occupied various towns of the island. He forced the insurgents and those suspected of aiding them into the mountains, where it was impossible for them to obtain food. There was no fighting, but starvation finally compelled the rebels to negotiate for the surrender of the prisoners. It was arranged that the captives should be delivered at a rendezvous on the beach at Buena Vista Sunday, and this plan was carried out, Gen. Hare receiving the prisoners.

Capt. Shields, who was wounded three times in the fighting that led to his capture, tells a dramatic story of the engagement. After he was wounded, he ordered the sergeant to take command of the companies, and that he himself be abandoned. A faithful member of the Hospital Corps refused to leave him, and they were both taken prisoners. Later the company, which was without ammunition, but still resisting, surrendered, owing to a mistaken order. The men were then robbed and abused by the Filipinos. Capt. Shields is now in Manila, where he is recovering from the effects of his wounds and privations suffered while in the hands of the natives.

He estimates that there are 40,000 male inhabitants in Marinduque. The insurgents who attacked his company numbered 2500. Of these 800 were armed with rifles, and the rest were bolo men. Gen. Hare has granted the insurgents a week's amnesty, which ends Sunday.

MACARTHUR'S LIST.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—A cable dispatch was received from Gen. MacArthur today, giving the casualties of Capt. Shields's command in the Island of Marinduque. Capt. Shields and his men were captured by the insurgents and afterward rescued by Gen. Hart's troops. The list follows:

Killed, September 13, Co. F, Twenty-ninth U.S.V. Infantry:
WILLIAM ANDREW,
ELMER RURARE,
ERWIN NILES.
September 14, FRANK WEIGHAND.
Wounded, September 13:
CAPT. DEVEREAUX SHIELDS, neck, mouth and shoulder; serious.
L. S. COLVIN, hip; slight.
ROBERT D. JACKSON, cheek; slight.
OLIVER G. JOHNSON, head, slight; arm, serious.
JOHN B. POOLE, head; slight.
JOHN C. HEW, head and wrist, slight; shoulder, serious.

Gen. MacArthur gives no details of the manner of the rescue, but there is every reason to suppose that it was due to the persistent efforts of the forces under the command of Gen. Hare. Capt. Shields's party consisted of himself and fifty-one men, all but one of whom were members of Co. F, of the Twenty-ninth Volunteer Infantry. Capt. Shields was seriously wounded in the neck, mouth and shoulder.

AMERICANS SURPRISED.

THIRTEEN CAUGHT BY REBELS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MANILA, Oct. 14. [via Hongkong, Oct. 16.] A detachment of twenty men of the Twenty-fourth Regiment, while engaged in repairing telegraph wires October 10, at a point near San José, Nuevo Ecija province, Isle De Luzon, were set upon by 200 rebels and were overpowered and scattered. Seven of the Americans reached San José, but it is probable that the remainder were captured.

The enemy surprised a party of scouts of the Forty-third Infantry at a point three miles from Takloban, Leyte Island, killing three of the Americans at the first volley. Two escaped and gave the alarm, but the enemy succeeded in evading their pursuers. The native police of Takloban had conspired to surprise the Americans. The bodies of the dead soldiers were badly mutilated.

CABLE ARRIVES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, October 16.—Gen. Greely has received a report from Manila saying that sixty miles of cable for use in the Philippines has arrived and will enable the signal corps to complete a number of telegraph lines in the islands.

Lieut. Clifton B. Berry, Signal Corps, has been discharged on account of disability. He was serving in the Philippines. This is the first officer of the Signal Corps who has had to retire on account of ill health.

GRANT SAILS WITH MEN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The United States transport Grant sailed for Manila today. On board the vessel are 597 casuals and recruits representing every regiment of the regular service in China and the Philippines. A large number of Hospital Corps men accompanied the soldiers.

TERRIBLE SUFFERINGS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, Oct. 17.—Full details are now at hand as to the capture of Capt. Devereaux Shields and his party by the insurgents in the island of Marinduque last month and their experiences prior to their rescue by Gen. Luther Hare.

After four weeks of captivity, hard treatment, hunger and continual marching to avoid the rescuing force which greatly aggravated the sufferings of the wounded, Capt. Shields and his command were delivered by the rebels to Gen. Hare last Sunday at Buenavista, on the Marinduque coast.

Capt. Shields and his party, while operating north of Torrijos, were taken in ambush in the steep hills. They attempted to cut their way to the coast, but became subjected to the enemy's four-sided fire, Capt. Shields being shot twice and badly wounded.

After four had been killed and five wounded, being out of ammunition, the command surrendered through a misunderstanding among themselves, to twenty-five insurgent ridemen and 1000 bolo men. The rebels separated their prisoners into small parties and conveyed them, heavily guarded, to impassable volcanic mountains. On this news reaching Manila, two companies of the Thirty-eighth Volunteer Infantry, under Col. George S. Anderson, were sent immediately to Marinduque. This force was followed by men of the First Infantry, under Gen. Hare. The combined force of 1200 men proceeded to occupy all the towns in the island.

The wounded praise unstintedly the care and services rendered them during their captivity by the Hospital Corps man who was with them.

PROF. PLEHN BEGINS INQUIRY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERKELEY, Oct. 16.—President Wheeler of the State University has received word that Prof. Carl C. Plehn has arrived in the Philippines, and has commenced the work of inquiry into the conditions of internal taxation. Later he will have charge of the first census ever undertaken in the Philippines.

Under the Philippine Commission, a night school has been opened in Manila, for the purpose of instructing in English. More than 200 students are attending, and another school will be started.

Dr. David P. Barrows, Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction, has been given entire charge of the schools in Manila. He will reorganize them according to modern ideas.

BOERS ARE STILL ACTIVE.

Gen. Roberts Reports Numerous Engagements—Mahon Buys Victory Dearly.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Lord Roberts reports from Pretoria, under date of October 15, as follows:

"French started from Machadodorp toward Heidelberg to clear a part of the country not yet visited by our troops.

"Mahon, commanding the mounted troops, successfully engaged the enemy on October 13, but our losses were severe, three officers and eight men being killed and three officers and twenty-five men wounded.

"French occupied Carolina yesterday, capturing a convoy during his march."

Lord Roberts also reports a number of minor affairs, showing that the Boers are still active over a wide field.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OSHKOSH (Wis.,) Oct. 16.—Fire broke out today in the lumber district, destroying 12,000,000 feet of lumber and part of the Hollister-Ames Company's mills and the plant of Challers Sons Company. The total loss amounts to almost $200,000, of which the following losses are the heaviest: Hollister-Ames Company, sawmill, lumber logs and shingles; loss $80,000.

Diamond Match Company, lumber yards containing between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 feet lumber; loss $175,000.

Challers Sons Company, pattern shops and warehouse; loss $20,000. All losses are fully covered by insurance.

Reported Shelling of Rebels by British Vessel—No News of Pao Ting Fu Capture.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 17, 4 a.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] There is no confirmation of the reported capture of Pao Ting Fu, of which, according to the Shanghai Echo, M. Dochine, the French Consul here, has received news. The report is generally discredited in London, especially as there is no direct telegraphic communication between Shanghai and Pao Ting Fu.

Hongkong dispatches tell of the continued spread of the southern rebellion. The Hongkong correspondent of the Daily Express sends a report that the British torpedo-boat destroyer Handy shelled 2000 rebels who were advancing on San Chun, killing forty and wounding hundreds. This is not confirmed from any other point.

The evidence of Prince Tuan's continuance in power causes anxiety. According to the Shanghai correspondent of the Morning Post, it has produced a serious depression in trade there. Two Chinese banks have failed; others are expected to close, and it is rumored that the Russo-Chinese Bank is in difficulty owing to the removal of the Chinese court to the province of Shen Si.

Shanghai telegrams report that the local mandarins have received a dispatch from Prince Tuan announcing that the court is now in safe keeping and exhorting them to have patience until winter descends the officer to keep the arsenals in constant work, and "everything ready for a massacre of all foreigners when the proper time arrives."

It is also reported that the Empress Dowager has issued a decree removing Liu Kung Wi, Viceroy of Nanking, from his post, and ordering Gen. Tsung Lu to join her at Sian Fu.

The Shantung Boxers are returning to their homes. Twelve thousand of them were utterly defeated outside of Tsung Chau, near the Chi Li border, by men of Gov. Yuan Shi Kai's troops under Gen. Mei.

BASIS FOR NEGOTIATIONS.

All Powers Accept the French Note—Minister Conger's Objection.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] At a Cabinet council held at the Elysée Palace this morning the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, announced that all of the foreign powers have accepted the French note as the basis for negotiation.

The Minister added that he had been informed Li Hung Chang has just ordered the Black Flags and Kwang Si troops, which are traversing the province of Hu Nan, on their way to join the court at Sian Fu, to abandon their march and return to Canton. A dispatch received by the Havas agency from Tien-Tsin, dated October 15, says:

"The British Ambassador, being informed from London of the basis of negotiations proposed by M. Delcasse (French Minister of Foreign Affairs,) called a meeting of the Diplomatic Corps in Peking. The French propositions were unanimously approved, and appreciation was expressed of France's initiative.

"United States Minister Conger alone raised an objection; not against the propositions, but against the method of procedure. Mr. Conger deemed that the French propositions would have to be imposed upon Chinese during the negotiations. While these propositions are formulated as being the basis of negotiations, different ministers, among others the British

RUSSIA IS HARD UP.

COULD NOT AFFORD CAMPAIGN

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A special to the World from Washington says the fact that Russia is endeavoring to raise a $150,000,000 loan in New York and Paris may explain why Russia has been so anxious to induce the powers to retire from Peking.

She is so desperately hard up, she cannot stand the financial strain of a prolonged campaign in China, and the fact that she is trying to borrow money is perhaps one of the surest guarantees of international peace.

In Paris, Russia is trying to induce the Rothschilds to lend her 7500,000,000 ($150,000,000.) In New York, one of the greatest international financial houses is trying to form a syndicate to lend Russia $50,000,000, American. As America is a heavy creditor nation and has more money seeking investment than can be profitably employed, it is not unlikely that a Russian loan can be negotiated in New York provided the security and interest offered are satisfactory.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The State Department has made public a list of the missionaries resident in the province of Che Kiang with the exception of those in the Hang Chia Fu circuit, at the end of June together with their whereabout so far as known on the the 10th of last August. The information was obtained by the British Consul at Ningpo and was transmitted to the State Department by Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy at London through the courtesy of Lord Salisbury, who furnished the American embassy with the data collected as follows:

American Baptist Mission — Americans, Rev. J. R. and Mrs. Goddard, Miss Goddard and Miss Corbin, stationed at Ningpo had left for Shanghai; Rev. T. D. and Mrs. Holmes, Miss Righter, Miss Hinsdale and Miss Relyea, stationed at Kinhwa, had left for Shanghai; Miss Worrell at Shaohsing also had left for Shanghai.

British—Dr. and Mrs. Grant and Miss Stewart were at Ningpo; Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Bousfield at Shaohsing had left for Shanghai.

There also is transmitted a further list of American missionaries affiliated to British missionary societies as follows: Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Knickerbocker, stationed at Ninghen, were leaving for Shanghai on that date; Rev. A. O. Loosley, stationed at Tien Tai was at his post; W. Albertson, stationed at Tai Chou and Miss Richer, stationed at Leqyioa had returned to Ningpo.

The Town the Terminus of the Shanghai Kwan Road—Concert Affected.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 16.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Official confirmation has been received of the report that the Russian southern army has occupied Fiehling, the terminus of the Shanghai Kwan Railroad. The occupation was effected October 4.

BREAKING UP CONCERT.

CZAR WILL ACT ALONE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Russian government permits it to become known that his attitude in China will be an increasing independence of the concert of the powers. Russia, it is explained, is disposed to attach less value to joint action since her interests have been fully secured by the successful campaign in Manchuria. Moreover, Russia is not willing to follow "the irreconcilable policy of some of the powers."

The explanation, the publication says, is that the Chinese government is able to utilize all its resources of duplicity to keep the powers occupied with vain negotiations and proposals and the dispatches of notes in order to gain time until the winter, counting on the rigor of the climate to prevent military operations and allow China to recuperate her resources for a spring campaign.

CAUSES NO SURPRISE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The cable dispatch from St. Petersburg indicating that Russia's attitude in China will be independent of the concert of the powers caused no surprise among officials here. It was noted when the aggressive military movement was begun by Germany and the expedition against Pao Ting Fu started, that Russia was among the powers which did not join in the movement.

The dispatch from St. Petersburg is looked on as merely another step similar to that taken when Russia withheld support from the Pao Ting Fu expedition and other aggressive military moves. Moreover, it is regarded as quite in consonance with the pacific position of this government, which have been directed all along to securing a settlement by diplomatic means rather than by the sword.

AMERICANS IN PERIL.

Kwang Tung Revolt Beyond Control—Consul Goes to MacArthur.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A special to the World from Hongkong, says:

"Americans and their extensive interests in the far south of China are imperiled by the rebellion in Kwang Tung province. Already the revolt is grown to such proportions that the Chinese authorities are unable to suppress it.

"Mr. Wildman, the United States Consul General at Hongkong, has gone to Manila to confer over the critical situation with Gen. MacArthur, the commander-in-chief of the American troops in the Philippines."

Old Gentleman (in background:) "Hi, there! Go chase yourself! I've listened to them blamed chestnuts long enough! Come, now—Git!"

PEKING BOXERS AGAIN ACTIVE.

Allies May Not Trust to the Imperial Troops to Suppress Them.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PEKING, Oct. 15, via Tien Tsin, Oct. 16, and Shanghai, Oct. 17.—[By Atlantic Cable.] There is renewed activity among the Boxers of Peking. The Imperial troops claim that they can suppress the Boxers, but the allies may send an expedition against the rebels.

United States Minister Conger and Gen. Chaffee and Gen. Wilson returned Li Hung Chang's visit this afternoon.

Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang are conferring for the purpose of fixing a first date with the ministers.

Empress Dowager Has an Ex-Minister to the United States Decapitated.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Confirmation has been received here of the execution July 30 of Chang Yan Hoon, the former Chinese Minister to the United States. Chang was a loyal adherent of the Emperor, and a warm supporter of the latter's reform movements. When the Empress Dowager supplanted the Emperor, two years ago, he was banished to Nebradoo, but through the intervention of the American and British Ministers, his punishment was commuted to banishment in the district and province Kashgaria.

It now appears that the Empress Dowager, taking advantage of the late reign of terror at Peking and knowing Chang's influence with the Emperor, ordered his execution by decapitation. Chang was considered by those familiar with his affairs as one of the ablest men in China. He had been decorated by the Queen of Great Britain and by the Emperors of Russia and Germany. He was preeminently the most liberal and enlightened of Chinese statesmen, and had his life been spared till the occupation of Peking by the allies, he doubtless would have been recalled and have taken an active part in the pending negotiations and further government of China.

TIEN-TSIN BRIEFS.

AMERICANS LEAVE ARSENAL.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 15, via Shanghai, Oct. 16.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The expedition against Pao Ting Fu met with no opposition up to October 14.

Reports received by courier say that a column of 500 French marching to Haien to relieve a party of French priests, met with no opposition in the six days' march to the south.

The Fourth Brigade of the British is now arriving.

The Americans have evacuated the arsenal, which has been turned over to the provisional city government.

Return of Von Ketteler's Widow and Others Who Suffered in China.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There were among the passengers of the steamer Empress of China, which arrived today from the Orient, many who had trying experiences during the siege of Peking legations; who had followed the march of the allies, and who had other experiences in connection with the stirring events in North China. Among these was Baroness Von Ketteler, widow of the murdered German Minister at Peking. She is accompanied by her brother and his bride, whose honeymoon has been spent in the voyage to Japan to bring home the bereaved baroness.

Baroness Von Ketteler's nerves had been shattered by her terrible experiences, and although she is now beginning to regain her health, she was too weak to be interviewed. She, with other ladies of Peking, was beleaguered in the British Legation after the tragic death of her husband, who was shot as he was proceeding to the Tsung Li Yamen. The story of the murder and subsequent arrest of the murderer, whose confession shows that the Chinese authorities were guilty of planning the murder of the German Minister, has already been told. The baroness was confined to her room for the greater part of the voyage. She is now bound home to the residence of her father, Henry B. Ledyard, superintendent of the Michigan Central Railway, at Detroit.

J. C. Hemment, a New York photographer and correspondent, says murder of the German Minister has transformed the German troops into fighters almost as brutal as the Cossacks. Every time they get a chance to drive a bayonet home into a Chinese they do so, and are often heard to exclaim: "There is one for Von Ketteler." Their campaign is one of revenge.

OTHER PASSENGERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Oct. 16.—Among the passengers on the Empress of Japan which arrived this evening were Dr. Edna Terrill, Rev. Dr. Reid and wife, Dr. W. A. P. Martin and several others who went through the siege of the legations. Another passenger was Leigh Hunt, an American who has valuable mining concessions in Korea.

J. C. Hemment was present at the taking of the Peitang forts by the Germans and Russians. He says the French artillery was present, but did not take part, and the British arrived after the Chinese guns were silenced. The Russians opened fire @ 3 a.m., and fired six shots before the Chinese replied with shrapnel, which burst among the attackers. As the advance continued several mines exploded, and two mounted officers and ponies were blown into the air.

The gunners got the range about 7 o'clock a.m., and landed shells in the forts, which were soon ablaze and the Chinese guns silenced.

LETTER FROM CONGER.

THANKS THE MISSIONARIES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Oct. 16.—The following letter was given by United States Minister Conger to the missionaries at Peking:

"Besieged American missionaries, one and all of you, so providentially saved, from certain massacre, I desire in this hour of deliverance to express what I know to be the universal sentiment of our diplomatic corps, sincere appreciation and profound gratitude for the inestimable help which the native Christians under you have rendered toward our preservation. Without your intelligent and successful planning and the uncomplaining Christian Chinese, I believe our salvation would have been impossible.

"By your courteous consideration of me and your continued patience under most trying occasions, I have been most deeply touched, and for it all I thank you most heartily. I hope and believe in God's unerring plan. Your sacrifices and danger will bear rich fruit in a material and spiritual welfare of people to whom you have so nobly devoted your lives and work. Assuring you of my personal respect and gratitude, very sincerely yours,

[Signed] "E. H. CONGER."

FEARS EXTENSION OF TROUBLES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Times, wiring yesterday, says:

"It is reported on good authority that Liu Kun Yi telegraphed today to Robert Hart, begging him to use his best endeavors to negotiate peace. This indicates that the Nanking Viceroy fears an extension of the troubles if the present situation is allowed to continue.

"Further appointments of reactionary Manchus to high positions in the Yang Tse region shows an intention to break the power of the friendly viceroys."

SHOT DOWN BY STRIKERS.

Non-union Woodworker Fatally Wounded at Chicago. Strike Still in Force.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Adam Maesch, a wood worker and until a few weeks ago, secretary of the Wood Workers' Union, was shot and probably fatally wounded last night near his home, by two men supposed to be striking wood workers, or their sympathizers. The attack is said to have been due to the fact that Maesch had returned to work with non-union men after a strike had been declared.

A general strike of union wood workers was declared five weeks ago in forty-nine mills engaged in the manufacture of building material. About 1400 workmen were involved at first, but the unions soon won in some thirty-five of the tied-up plants. It was in the factories of the south and west sides that the union victories were achieved. For the last few weeks the contest has been waged bitterly at the plants of the north and northwest sections of the city where the strike is still in force.

Two Persons Missing and a Woman Injured—Postal Telegraph Fire.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Several lives were lost in a fire early this morning, in the three-story-and-attic double frame tenement on Hester street. The dead are:

MRS. FASS.

SAMUEL FASS, 13 years old.

LENA FASS, 9 years old.

MORRIS FASS, 7 years old.

Woman, believed to be Mrs. Lewis, mother of Mrs. Fass.

The missing are:

MISS HORROWITZ.

MANUEL STRAUSS.

The injured:

MARY MARTIN, back severely burned.

Six families lived in the building, three on each side. Janitor Nathan Gatz discovered the fire in the hallway. He ran through the building shouting to the tenants. Private Watchman Sam Lazarus, stationed on the block, heard him and sent in an alarm. Several policemen heard him and ran to the place. They arrived with the firemen, but already the place was in flames. It burned like a straw stack.

Charles Fass, a butcher, who with his family lived on the second floor, heard the janitor yelling, and picking up his four-year-old child, Josephine, ran down the rickety old fire escape. He made frantic efforts to get back for his wife and his other children, but the fire was already shooting from the windows and he was cut off. His wife ran to the window and threw out Isaac, the five-year-old boy. A policeman caught the lad and he was unhurt. All the rest of the Fass household were burned to death.

Henry Bernbaltz, who lived in the rear of the building, got his family out.

Mary Martin and Harry Murray lived in the attic. They escaped, but Mary Martin was severely burned. Mrs. Lewis, in trying to escape, got to the second-floor fire escape, where her body was found by the firemen.

The fire marshal has been notified by the police to investigate, as the fire is believed to have been incendiary. The firemen were searching the ruins at 3:30 o'clock. They said there was little prospect of recovering more bodies for several hours, until the ruins cooled.

HARDWARE CLUB ABLAZE.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH SUFFERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Fire broke out from some unknown cause tonight in the rooms of the Hardware Club on the fourteenth floor of the Postal Telegraph Building, Broadway and Murray streets. The twelfth and thirteenth floors are used by the telegraph company as an operating room. They were flooded with water, which came down through the ceiling.

The damage to the building was slight. No one was injured, and at no time were the lives of the telegraph operators in danger. The Hardware Club's loss is $40,000.

MORE DEAD THAN ALIVE.

Youtsey Unable to Talk to the Court.

His Counsel Attacks Goebel's Story.

Says It Was Prompted by Imagination or Else Was Only Perjury.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GEORGETOWN (Ky.) Oct. 16.—If Henry Youtsey heard a word uttered in his trial today, he gave not the slightest indication of it by any movement of the hands, head, eyes or lips. So far as any one in the courtroom could tell, he never uttered a word all day. He was the unconscious actor in another realistic scene this afternoon when he was brought into the courtroom proper, lying on his bed. His eyes and mouth were tightly closed, and he looked every whit a dead man.

Col. Nelson, his lawyer, in a loud voice, asked him how old he was and where he lived.

The defense presented some strong testimony contradictory of the prosecution's witnesses, and said that they have something stronger for tomorrow when they expect to rest their case.

Jim Howard will go on the stand and swear that Youtsey did not let him in Powers's office that morning, and that he was not even in the building.

Youtsey's symptoms have been worse today. His temperature increased and his pulse was greatly accelerated. The physicians think he is in no immediate danger, but a sudden change for the worse may come at any time.

SOME OF THE TESTIMONY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

GEORGETOWN (Ky.) Oct. 16.—The trial of Henry Youtsey on the charge of complicity in the Goebel assassination was resumed today, although Youtsey's condition was unchanged. He was placed on a bed which was pulled up to a doorway in the courtroom, in plain view. Wharton Golden was the first witness to take the stand. Golden said he never told Rev. Stamper or Mrs. Stamper that he was to get $5000 for his testimony, nor that if he could see Col. Campbell, he could get $10,000. He denied all the statements attributed to him by the Stampers, L. F. Sinclair and others.

W. H. Culton was recalled, and again denied telling Charles Reynolds that he had a contract for immunity, or had he told one Chapley that Wharton Golden had gotten them all in this trouble.

Arthur M. Goebel was recalled, and in answer to a question from Col. Nelson, said he had never testified in any of these cases until yesterday.

Lieut. John Ricketts said he remembered seeing Youtsey some days after the shooting talking to Capt. Bennett, and when Youtsey walked away he (Ricketts) asked Bennett who Youtsey was. On cross-examination he said he knew Youtsey's face as being that of the man whom he had seen and talked to before, but did not know his name.

The witnesses were introduced to lay a foundation for contradiction, and when their examination was concluded, Col. Crawford made the statement to the jury for the defense. In closing he said the testimony of Arthur Goebel was either prompted by his imagination, or it was perjury. After Crawford closed, the defense was granted time for consultation, and court adjourned until afternoon. After the afternoon the defense moved to discharge the jury and continue the case. The defendant was still unconscious, and in a worse condition than before. Judge Cantrill overruled the motion.

The defense asked that Youtsey be called as a witness. The deputies and guards brought Youtsey on his bed and set it down in front of the jury. Col. Nelson asked Youtsey several questions, but got no response, the defendant lying as one dead on his bed.

"We can get no deposition from the witness," said Nelson.

"Very well: let him stand aside," said the Judge, and the bed was carried back to the jury-room.

Col. Nelson made a motion to discharge the jury, as the defendant was not really in court feeling his accusers, but simply an unconscious body. The Judge said the law provided that before he could dismiss the jury the defendant must be adjudged a lunatic.

Explosion of Rubber Cement Starts a Fatal Conflagration at Detroit.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—An explosion of rubber cement in the basement of a four-story building on Jefferson avenue, occupied by Whitehall Rubber Company, manufacturers of shoes, at 6 o'clock p.m. today resulted in a fire which cost the life of two men and injured eight persons, four of whom are girls. The fire spread with such rapidity that the employés were forced to jump from the upper stories. One man named Ireson jumped from a third-story window and struck on the front of the building, tearing it loose and carrying down with other persons who had congregated on the window ledge to which he had jumped. Ireson was instantly killed. Those who fell were Miss Jennie McTheggart, Miss Mary O'Connor, Joseph Pattison, Miss Minnie Cowert, Daniel Cassidy and Straight, unknown. The building was a complete wreck. The loss is not yet estimated.

The body of a missing man has been taken from the ruins. His name is Ernest Lassen.

ously, the Hon. Richard Croker, to get control of the State government and lead it down to the level of infamy from which he had rescued the government of New York City. Will Bryan do Van Wyck? At the Kansas City convention Mr Van Wyck was one of those who drew up the anti-trust plank and, by the platform, for he was on the committee on Resolutions. Will he denounce those men for their hypocrisy in denouncing trusts in public, while in their private capacity they are among the largest stockholders in the worst trust in the country—the ice trust of New York?

At Springfield another large crowd greeted the Governor. As the train approached the city every factory whistle sounded a salute. National Chairman and Others Speak in Fourteen Towns of the Northwest.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] HUNTINGTOWN (S. D.) Oct. 16.—With an original programme of five stops in today's itinerary, Senator Hanna's train stopped at fourteen towns in Minnesota and South Dakota after the day, with Watertown for the final stopping place. So much interest was brought to bear by communities from various points along the route included in the itinerary and by Minnesota and South Dakota Congressmen, through whose districts the train ran, that Senator Hanna consented to make brief talks at as many places as was possible to include in the day's travel, and nearly every town of any importance through the valley of the Minnesota River and across the prairies of Western Minnesota and eastern South Dakota, Senators Hanna and Fairbanks and Congressman Victor Dolliver made speeches varying in length from ten to twenty minutes.

Large crowds were present at nearly all the stopping places, farmers in some instances comprising a large part of the audience and the speakers were interrupted many times by questioners, who always apparently in a friendly spirit. In one or two instances, in Minnesota, though that part of the State is noted for its dairy interests and anti-oleo, the speakers paid some attention to the tariff question, but the crowds generally was on the trusts and prosperity.

"There is the people seem to care about," said Senator Hanna tonight. "All they apparently is to be assured of the maintenance of the present prosperity. That sentiment seems to be all over this country. I can see nothing but an overwhelming vote for McKinley and Roosevelt all over the country."

Thousands of school children in the towns were a feature of the day. At Huntsville, Minn., Marshall, Minn., and Watertown were present in large numbers, the children from the public schools being included in the audiences.

SENATOR WAS HOARSE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] ALBERT LEA (Minn.) Oct. 16.—Hoarse from his efforts of yesterday, Senator Hanna began his speechmaking in Minnesota early today. The first stop was at Austin, Minn., in Congressman Tawney's district. There Mr. Hanna spoke for ten minutes from a platform in front of the railroad station. A crowd gave Mr. Hanna a warm welcome. In his speech he referred to McKinley as the "Moses of the Republican party," a sentiment which was enthusiastically applauded. Quite in part as follows:

"The issues that have been presented in this campaign, we are asked to say, imperialism, trusts, and what are simply collateral issues intended to lead the people away from the real issue. The paramount issue before the people and the one in which we are interested is, is the present conditions to be continued? We don't feel any particular desire to accommodate Mr. Bryan by having him President of the United States. We do not relinquish that Mr. Bryan has done any thing for his country or the people generally to entitle him to the highest honor in their gift. But the public careers of both of the candidates and make your own comparisons. My friends, all there is in the question, are not we well off? Are we on the road to continued prosperity, or how can we keep to the principles which have marked that prosperity in this country? Let well enough alone. Don't swap horses crossing the stream. Don't change McKinley for Bryan."

Then spoke a few words to the people of Congressman Tawney urged his re-election to Congress and remarked that he was one of the valued members of the House.

Congressman Dolliver followed Mr. Hanna in a brief speech at the conclusion of which the train departed for Albert Lea, the next stop.

BRYAN WITH THE BOODLERS.

The Nebraska Purist Embraces Tammanyism, Croker, Ice Trust and All.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—William J. Bryan arrived in this city at 2:25 o'clock today. His reception was an emphatic ovation. As the train steamed into the Grand Central Station the immense building was thronged with a multitude.

Bryan was driven to the Hoffman House in an open carriage, in which he sat next to Richard Croker, and with uncovered head bowed and smiled to the thousands who cheered him. For-second street presented an animated scene. From Lexington avenue on one side to Sixth avenue on the other the sidewalks were lined with the populace.

About 2 o'clock Capt. Price at the Grand Central Station began to take active measures to open a passageway for the Tammany Hall Reception Committee to the station. A squad of twenty mounted policemen cleared Forty-second street, and about sixty more policeman under Capt. Price marched to the annex and established police lines beyond which the curious could not go.

At 2:35 o'clock a loud cheer went up and the open carriages containing the Tammany Hall Reception Committee were driven to the annex. William R. Hearst led the way, followed by Richard Croker, O. H. P. Belmont, president of the borough; James J. Cooman, James Shevlin, Lewis Nixon, Morris Delmar and about a dozen others. Three cheers for Croker were given.

REGULAR FOOTBALL RUSH.

As the time approached for the arrival of the train the Reception Committee started to move further and further along the tracks. At this point the police lines were made ineffectual by a regular football rush. While the Reception Committee was waiting every possible inch of space indoors, at windows, platforms and on the big iron bridges crossing the station was occupied. The narrow passageway along the tracks was a mass of people when the engine of the Bryan train blew its warning whistle. Then came the mad scramble to reach the rear car of the train, which Bryan was supposed to occupy. Croker, Hearst and the other members of the Reception Committee tried to walk in a dignified manner toward the train to greet the Presidential candidate, but the crowd was too great. They were pushed and shoved and hustled along until they had almost to break into a run before they could swing themselves onto the rear platform and give Bryan greeting. In the meantime the crowd had worked up to what it considered a proper degree of enthusiasm. It cheered and hallooed as Bryan stepped out on the platform.

SAT WITH TAMMANY DICK.

Then, escorted by Croker and the committee, he began the journey toward the street. A number of people grasped Bryan's hands. He smiled good-naturedly through it all, in spite of the fact that both he and Croker were being rather roughly jostled about. As he entered the carriage and took his seat Bryan took off his hat and smiled and bowed on every side. Croker sat next to him, while Hearst and Shevlin occupied the other two seats in the carriage. It took some time to clear a passageway to Forty-second street, and then the carriage started for the Hoffman House.

Bryan reached the Hoffman House at 3:20 p.m. All the way down Fifth avenue he was cheered by the big crowds that lined the thoroughfare. The demonstration as Bryan left his carriage and entered the hotel was a repetition of that along the line.

Bryan at once went to his rooms. A few minutes later he received a delegation from St. Mathews Lutheran Church, North Fifth street, Brooklyn. Rev. Augustus Sommers, the pastor, presented him a gold-headed cane which had been won by Bryan in receiving the largest number of votes at a fair held by the church. He made a speech of thanks, and then retired to rest before the banquet.

MOB WAITED FOR HOURS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—For hours before the time for the opening of the doors, 5:30 o'clock p.m., Madison Square Garden, where Bryan and the head of the State ticket, John B. Stanchfield, spoke, was besieged by crowds. Thrones gathered and massed before the five main entrances of the building on Fourth and Madison avenue as early as 3 o'clock, hoping to get in when the doors were first opened. At 4 o'clock at least a thousand people were in the amphitheater, having gained admission tickets which had been distributed and which were given precedence over box seat tickets. About two hundred men from the different city departments were on hand to act as ushers and at 5 o'clock the police details arrived.

Deputy Chief Cortright and nearly a score of captains and a corresponding number of sergeants and roundsmen were in charge. In the half hour preceding the opening of the door the policemen marched and countermarched about the garden, the crowd cheering. The policemen wore their dress coat uniforms and white gloves.

At 5:30 o'clock, to the minute, the sound of exploding bombs outside the garden announced the opening of the doors. Instantly there was a great rush by the people from the Madison Square hallway, and from the Tenth-street entrance, which, according to police arrangements, were to be kept clear for ticket holders. In the first rush were a few women, who got near the speakers' stand.

In less than ten minutes every seat on the floor was taken and the crowd, which had begun to pour in from all sides, attacked the galleries. Five minutes later now the balcony and a part of the galleries black with people. The rush was then over, but there came a steady stream through the principal doors, and all empty seats were soon filled.

CROWD NOT DEMONSTRATIVE.

The crowd did not appear at first to be demonstrative. When the lights were all turned on, there came a brief cheer. The big semi-circular electrical display over the speaker's stand bore the portraits of the two Democratic candidates, the Democratic emblem and the Democratic watchword, credited to Croker, "We wish to remain free people," in great letters of light. Then the band struck up a national air, and as the people recognized "Yankee Doodle" they got up in their seats with uncovered heads and as they waved thousnds of small flags shouted out the words of the song.

The garden was decorated in the national colors. Streamers radiated from the center, from the roof, underneath the skylight to the heads of the iron pillars over the galleries, and festoons of flags with the colors of different States lined the galleries. The speakers' stand was draped simply with American flags and red, white and blue bunting.

At 6:30 o'clock the only seats remaining vacant in the entire garden was an occasional box, the tickets for which remained good until 7 o'clock. The crowd was orderly and frequent performances by the band brought out enthusiasm. The arrival of prominent Tammany men brought out the first strong applause of the evening. As 7 o'clock approached, the hour when Bryan was expected to arrive, the crowd began to warm up. The garden was jammed but the police kept the aisles cleared and back of the gallery seats there was not an inch of available space.

ENTER BRYAN AND CROKER.

Bryan entered the garden at 7:15 o'clock. As the face of Croker, behind which appeared Bryan's was seen, the crowd burst forth in one great prolonged yell. Every one stood tiptoe on his seat and the garden was a sea of waving flags. As Bryan, escorted by Croker, mounted the speaker's stand, the cheering was continued. The two climbed the stairs and made their way to the front, followed by the Reception Committee. Bryan and Croker frequently responded to the cheering by bowing to the vast audience, and the faces of both were wreathed with smiles.

Just behind the two as they mounted the platform, Mayor Van Wyck escorted Edward M. Shepard, who acted as chairman of the meeting. The cheering continued, now dying down, now being renewed with increased vigor. It continued for five minutes, not abating when Bryan rose to his feet and raised his hands.

Croker pulled him back into his seat. The cheering went on. Croker rose, hesitated a moment, then raised his hand for silence. Instead of ceasing the crowd broke forth louder than ever. Do what he could, Croker could not silence the crowd.

CHEERS AND HISSES.

After fully fifteen minutes of cheering, the applause began to decrease. Mingled cheers and hisses, the latter for silence, lasted a minute longer. A call for three cheers for "Our next President" brought out a final cheer, but an effort to repeat it was drowned in cries of "Put him out."

The enthusiasm nearly carried the crowd away. The throng at the Madison-avenue end of the garden jammed down the aisle and the sixty odd policemen at that point had to do battle with the crowd to keep it under control. When quiet was restored, Croker arose, took Shephard by the hand and introduced him to the audience as chairman of the meeting.

Benjamin Shephard could get into the subject of "Imperialism," to which most of his address was devoted, the crowd got so impatient to hear Bryan that Shephard could not proceed. He suddenly stopped and introduce President Guggenheimer of the Council, who offered the formal resolutions of the evening.

RESOLUTIONS OFFERED.

These welcomed Bryan and Stevenson to New York, approved the Kansas City platform, opposed imperialism, protested against an enormous standing army as a menace to the republic, praised the volunteer army as being sufficient in emergency, opposed entangling foreign alliances, sympathized with the Boers, denounced trusts, pledged the party to bring back to the people constitutional government, and charged the Republicans with having raised a gigantic corruption fund to debauch the suffrage.

The resolutions were cheered, though they could not be heard for the shouts for Bryan, and Shephard at once introduced the latter in a few short sentences.

Bryan stepped to the railing about the stand as the throng broke out afresh into cheers. He raised his hand for silence, but the cheers did not subside. Bryan was dressed simply in a black suit with a short sack coat.

"Three cheers for our next President," came up from the audience. Bryan raised his hand in deprecation. The crowd was about to become quiet, when with a boom and a flash of fire, a flashlight bomb went off in the center of the room. Women shrieked and the crowd yelled, not knowing what it all was. There was great excitement and disorder for a moment and calls for the police. A dozen policemen rushed to the spot where the man sat who had fired the bomb, grabbed him and hustled him and his camera out into the aisle and out of the garden.

BRYAN BEGINS.

Bryan had stood quietly at the rail of the platform. There was another attempt to renew the cheering, but hisses greeted it, and Bryan commenced speaking. When Bryan began speaking his voice was scarcely audible a hundred feet away from the stand, but he gradually spoke louder, and in a moment his voice could be heard by the galleries.

The crowd listened in silence for a time, but when the speaker said that the Democratic party recognized the right of ability of mind and muscle to the fruits of its toil, the crowd broke forth into cheering.

Bryan concluded his speech at 9 o'clock precisely, having spoken one hour and fifty-one minutes. The crowd rose and cheered as he left the platform in company with Croker, shaking hands as he left.

CROWD LEAVES ADLAI.

The applause for Bryan as he went away blended with that for Adlai E. Stevenson as he rose to speak. The cheers died out and the noise of the crowd getting out prevented Stevenson from speaking. Three minutes after Bryan left there were vacant seats all over the building, large patches showing everywhere in the galleries and on the main floor. Stevenson began speaking, but his voice could not be heard fifty feet away. More than half the people left. Frequent attempts were made by Chairman Shepard and Stevenson to stop the exit and quiet the audience, but they were unable. A few crowded close to the stand to hear him above the noise, and he was cheered feebly. He spoke on imperialism, along his usual lines.

DAVIS DENOUNCES.

Webster Davis was introduced and condemned the administration's treatment of the Boers. He said that on the visit of the Boer envoys to the White House, the President took them to a window looking out on the east side of the mansion and showed them the beautiful scenery. Just then, according to Davis, a message came that three Senators representing large trust interests, were in an adjoining room. The President left at once, and the Boer envoys were compelled to leave without being permitted to say one word of their mission.

OTHER SPEAKERS.

At the conclusion of Webster Davis's speech Mayor Jones of Toledo was introduced and spoke briefly. He was heartily received.

The four or five thousand who had remained to hear Davis and Jones cheered John B. Stanchfield, candidate for Governor, when he was introduced.

A number started to go out as he began speaking, and he was interrupted as Stevenson had been.

William F. McCuno, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, was the last speaker. When he concluded the band struck up "Dixie," and the small remaining portion of the throng that had gathered in the garden early in the evening filed out.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The crowd that surged about the open-air stand at Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street, crushing the weak and almost smothering those who were so tightly packed in, and the air which reeked with the fumes of Greek fire, could not reach them, may have numbered 20,000, and there was not one in the crowd who cared to hear any one else but Bryan. Half a dozen speakers attempted to keep them quiet until the Presidential candidate came from the garden, but the most successful speaker had a hard job of it.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock when the cavalcade heading the Bryan party rode down Madison avenue to the stand. The carriages could not drive within fifty feet of it, and Bryan, Croker, Hearst and Shevlin, who were in the carriages, walked to the stand. The ovation to the candidate was deafeningly loud and prolonged.

When order was secured Bryan spoke briefly, excusing himself from an extended speech on the ground that he had been speaking indoors and feared to expose himself too long in the open air.

The minute Bryan stopped speaking Croker took his arm and led him to the rear of the stand to see the crowd assembled there. He waved his hat to them and Croker asked him:

"Did you ever see anything like it?"

"Wonderful, wonderful," Bryan said.

Then the party left the stand and got into the carriages. The trip to Tammany Hall was made through streets lined with cheering thousands.

AT TAMMANY HALL.

Bryan and his party arrived at 9:25 o'clock. Senator Mackey was speaking, but as soon as the crowd recognized Bryan, it rose to its feet and cheered for several minutes. Croker, who accompanied Bryan, took a seat on the rear of the platform, while the candidate went to the front and acknowledged the greeting. When the cheering had continued for a couple of minutes he raised his hand to command silence. His speech was brief, but was received with enthusiasm.

At 10 o'clock, Bryan arrived at Cooper Union. His appearance on the platform was the signal for one of the most enthusiastic greetings ever accorded to any one man in Cooper Union. It was fully five minutes before quiet could be secured.

CROWD WENT CRAZY.

It was 10:20 o'clock when Bryan and his party came out of Cooper Union. The crowd seemed to go crazy. It was the most dangerous outlook of the evening, and it seemed as if scores were to be trampled under foot. Repeatedly the police charged to get Bryan's carriage through, but every time the crowd came back. Night sticks were finally drawn and a lane opened long enough to let the Bryan carriage into Irving Place. Through that street it went at a dash and up Broadway. Several hundred persons ran in pursuit and kept right after the carriage and escort to Union Square, while hundreds were on the curb.

Toward Madison Square the crowd tired, and most of them dropped out, but an immense crowd was in front of the Hoffman House to meet Bryan when he got out of his carriage.

He was taken to his suite at once. There he received the national and State committees and was finally turned over to Chairman Frank Campbell of the State Committee for his four-day trip, which will begin tomorrow morning, through this State.

AFTERNOON DINNER.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A dinner was tendered Bryan at the Hoffman House at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Fifty covers were laid. The room was beautifully decorated with laurel leaves, palms and evergreens. Bryan's portrait, framed in a silk American flag, was just behind the chair reserved for Van Wyck, the presiding officer. All the tables were decorated with flowers, roses predominating.

The service was the best that the house could provide, linens of the most costly sort, the heaviest tableware, cut glass and the best of china. Although Bryan did not drink his wine, glasses were provided just as for the other guests.

Mayor Van Wyck sat in an invalid chair brought from Arabia. On either side of him, two and two, were special chairs, on which sat Bryan, Croker, Stevenson and Hearst.

The much-disputed cost of the dinner was settled by the Hoffman House management, who said that the cost was $12 per plate, exclusive of the wines. It took from 5:45 to 7 p.m. to dispose of the many courses.

HE HAS MONEY TO WAGER.

Missourian Offers a Hundred Thousand Dollars on McKinley.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THIS TIMES.] NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cashier De Forest, who is stationed at the cigar counter in the Hoffman House Café, was much surprised tonight when a plainly-dressed man, about 40 years old, walked up and placed $100,000 on the cigar case.

"You see that?" he said. "There are 100 thousand-dollar bills. The money is mine, and I came here from Missouri to bet it on Bill McKinley. I want you to find me a few of those chaps who think Bryan has a ghost of a show. If you find them with money to bet, I'll make it all right with you for your trouble. I've been trying to get someone who actually has money to bet on Bryan, but I've traveled clean through the country from Missouri to New York, and I cannot find 'em."

"Well," continued the man from Missouri, "I want to find someone with Bryan money to cover it. I told you I belonged to Missouri. I own a zinc mine there, and my men get good wages. Most of them are Democrats. They'll all vote for McKinley, and so will thousands of other Democrats in my State. Now, I want that money covered. I'll bet $30,000 even that McKinley will carry Missouri by 15,000. I'll bet another $30,000 that McKinley will carry Wyoming. I'll bet that whole bunch, $100,000, against $20,000, that Bill McKinley will be reelected."

The man from Missouri talked so loudly that a crowd gathered about him. He asked if there were any men with Bryan money in the crowd. No one answered. The man from Missouri picked up the roll, and putting it in his pocket, said: "Don't forget me. I'll be around again tomorrow night, and you'll do me a favor if you find me a Bryan man with backbone enough to make a decent bet."

[ENGLAND.]

DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT.

James Brice Says It Was a New and Bad Departure in English Politics.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says James Brice asserts that the dissolution of the British Parliament was quite without precedent, and quite opposed to the spirit and usage of the British Constitution. The law fixes the duration of Parliament and established usage has settled that Parliament ought not to be dissolved prematurely save to take the opinion of the country upon some definite issue, usually when a bill has been rejected, or the ministry censured.

"To spring dissolution," says Brice, "especially upon a stale register for the sake of party advantage, is a new departure and a very bad one here. There has been really no issue before the country because the war is over and annexation is fait accompli. On the whole this general election settles nothing and outlines no future policy, foreign or domestic. No one has the least idea what the ministry will do. Perhaps they don't know themselves."

Brice is not disheartened by the results of the elections. He maintains that too much discouragement is expressed regarding the position of the Liberal party. He says: "Considering the difficulties under which it has had to fight this election, it has given proofs of strength which make it possible that before long the current may be setting in its favor. The disparity represented by the number of members of each party returned is very much greater than the disparity represented by the votes cast."

Brice's personal triumph in securing his reelection has been rendered more significant by the unexpected success of the Unionists in upsetting a strong Liberal majority in Aberdeenshire and winning their sixth seat in Scotland. This gain gave them a lead of a single seat over the majority of the last Parliament with only one out of seven seats to defend in the remaining contests.

Chamberlain, having finished the work of the canvass, has returned to the Colonial Office where business is in appears. The only hint which has been thrown out respecting the form of settlement in South Africa is his own forecast that the new territories will be governed as crown colonies after they have passed out of the condition of military rule. Objection is offered by some critics that this will mean government by Downing street, with all the wires in the hands of Chamberlain. His enemies are hardly consistent when they insist that he must mop up the mess which he has made, and at the same time object to his keeping the tentative administration of the new colonies under his own direction. His detractors are forced to concede that he was a shrewd politician in bringing on dissolution when he did.

The Unionists have barely kept their majority under most favorable conditions. They would certainly have reduced it by waiting until January or March. The cost of living has run up by leaps and bounds, and the various industries are hampered by high prices of coal and raw material. The cotton supply for Lancashire is a serious problem which menaces the working class with loss of employment and the full burden of increased income taxation will be felt during the spring. The khaki election was adroitly timed for the government, but it was premature so far as Lord Roberts was concerned since his return is not expected until January.

RESULTS NOT CHANGED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] LONDON, Oct. 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The election returns today do not change the results, and the final figures, with the exception of the Orkney Islands, leave the government a net gain of a single seat. The total elected is 669 as follows: Ministerialists 402; opposition 269.

As the Orkney Islands district is regarded as a safe Liberal seat, the government's majority will be 130, against 128 at the time of the dissolution.

Later the completed results showed the Unionists had captured Wick burghs making the Ministerialist gain 27 and that of the opposition 25, and the respective totals 401 and 268.

BARON RUSSELL'S SUCCESSOR.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] LONDON, Oct. 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] It is officially announced that Lord Alverstone (better known as Sir Richard Webster) has been appointed Lord Chief Justice of England, in succession to the late Baron Russell of Killowen. Justice A. L. Smith succeeds Lord Alverstone as master of the rolls.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PRESIDENT.

Chairman Tweed Not in a Position to Predict When an Election Will Be Held.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Charles H. Tweed, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific company, said today that all rumors relative to the appointment of a successor to the presidency of the company were simply haphazard guesses. He said:

"I don't think anything will be done this week as to appointing a successor to the late Mr. Huntington. It is not wise to predict what may occur a week hence, and I am not in a position to say whether the President of the United States or the president of our company will be chosen first."

Arnold Must Go Back.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today affirmed the decision of the District Court in the case of J. T. B. Arnold, who was ordered extradited to England, where he is wanted on the charge of embezzlement. The decision was rendered by Judges Gilbert, Hawley and Ross, and was oral. Judge Gilbert announced that the decision of the lower court was affirmed and the appeal dismissed. Consul-General Pickersgill will cable to England for instructions regarding the arrangements.

DICTATORS OF DRUG PRICES.

The Owl Drug Co.

Is organized and run for the purpose of selling honest drugs, medicines, toilet articles and sundries at the lowest possible margin of profit consistent with a high standard of quality.

The Retail Druggists' Association

Is organized and run for the sole purpose of selling drugs, medicines and toilet articles at the highest possible price the traffic will bear. With them it is not a question of methods of fair dealing; it is simply a question of fleecing the public as quickly and as systematically as possible.

Pay Your Money and Take Your Choice.

If the Owl Drug Company would do as this profit-grabbing, public-plundering combine desires there would be no such thing known in Los Angeles as the drug war.

If the Owl Drug Company would sign the articles of agreement of the Los Angeles High-Priced Drug Association there would be no such thing in Los Angeles as the drug war.

In other words, if we would sacrifice the dignity and honor of our manhood and bind ourselves to the arbitrary rules of a set of men who care nothing for the public, sick or well, there would be no such thing in Los Angeles as the drug war.

This We Will Not Do.

We will sink or swim running our business as we please. We will stand by the guns and dictate prices. As long as we operate under the American flag we propose to operate under American methods. We do not propose to be held in bonds by any association. We are still dictating prices; we are still saving the people thousands and thousands of dollars. The question is up to you, the public, and we know by the steady daily increase in our trade that you are deciding it in favor of the Owl and freedom.

[THE COAL STRIKE.]

THEY MARCHED AND MARCHED.

Two Armies Set Out to Close the Mines.

One of Them Turned Back by Troops.

Lehigh Colliery Shut Down by North-side Strikers—Work to Be Resumed.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LANSFORD (Pa.,) Oct. 16.—About 1200 men and sixty women and girls marched eighteen miles from the south side of the Hazleton region during the night for the Panther Creek Valley, where they expected to close the ten collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, but just as the weary marchers were nearing their destination this morning they were met on a mountain road by three companies of infantry, and at the point of the bayonet were driven back four miles to Tamaqua and dispersed.

Another crowd of 800 strikers from the north side of Hazleton also marched here and succeeded in closing the company's No. 1 colliery at Nesquehoning, near Mauch Chunk, before being scattered. The presence of the soldiers was entirely unexpected, and the strikers were much crestfallen that they failed in accomplishing the object of their long march.

It was probably the most exciting morning that the Panther Creek and Nesquehoning valleys have ever experienced. Strikers were scattered over the various roads and companies of soldiers were scurrying in all directions, heading off the marching men. For a moment, just after the two forces met on the road in the darkness, it looked as if a clash would come, but the good sense of those who had charge of the strikers prevented a conflict.

The march on Panther Creek Valley was on the strikers' programme for several days. The United Mine Workers, ever since the strike started, have been attempting to close the collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company in this region. Organizers were constantly in the region, but as a rule they did not meet with much success, so it was decided to use stronger methods to get the men employed in the ten mines out on a strike. Accordingly it was arranged that a big demonstration should be held in the valley. It was to have been held yesterday morning, but owing to the heavy rain and muddy roads, it was called off until this morning. Those who took part were strikers from McAdoo, Tomhicken, Bunker Hill and Silverbrook, from the south side of Hazleton, and the Freeland, Drifton, Jeddo and Eckley Mansion strikers from the north side. The women and girls all came from McAdoo, which borough is the only one in the Hazleton region which has organized female marchers.

The marchers came down like two armies, the south side men marching by way of Tamaqua, while the strikers from the north side went over the mountain at Beaver Meadow and entered the Panther Creek Valley via Nesquehoning. The south side army concentrated at McAdoo, and the order to march was given at 10:30 o'clock last night. There were several fife and drum corps and a brass band in the line. The women and girls were conveyed in two large omnibuses. The entire town of McAdoo was out to see the marchers start. Until 11 o'clock the night was very dark, but by no means difficult for one any distance in the mountain passes, but after midnight the moon came out from behind a bank of clouds and for the remainder of the journey the marchers had plenty of light. As the town of Tamaqua was entered at 3 a.m., the strikers began to make as much noise as they could. They went through the town without stopping for rest, and headed for Coaldale, four and a half miles away.

Carriages containing newspaper correspondents, who had been trailing along in the rear of the procession, were requested to take the lead, so that they would not interfere with the plans of the strikers. Following the newspapermen came the two conveyances containing the McAdoo women, and then followed a long line of Hungarians, Italians, Poles, Slavs and English-speaking mine workers.

At a point half a mile from Coaldale there is a sharp turn in the road, and as the newspaper men rounded it, there came a command of "Halt," and about fifty feet in front of them stood solid rows of soldiers, who were stretched across the road with bayonets fixed. Sheriff Toole of Schuylkill county was with them. The commander of the troops, speaking to the waiting crowd, said: "In the name of the people of the State of Pennsylvania, I command you to disperse and to return whence you came."

The strikers began to protest that they could not be stopped on a public highway, and many of them showed a disposition to resist the orders. The officer in charge of the troops, however, kept his men in position, and the strikers, seeing that the soldiers evidently meant business, slowly began returning toward Tamaqua. "Mother" Jones vehemently protested against the action of the troops in stopping the marchers, but she was shut off and ordered to move on. The McAdoo women had to be almost pushed along, so slowly did they walk. They continually jeered at the soldiers, calling them all kinds of names and threatening them with punishment if they should dare to visit McAdoo. It took from 8 to after 4 o'clock to drive the crowd back to Tamaqua.

During all of this time the identity of the troops was unknown, owing to the darkness, and it was reported through the crowd that they belonged to the Thirteenth Regiment of Scranton. The soldiers were really members of the Fourth Regiment, which has been stationed at Shenandoah for three weeks. Eight companies of the regiment left Shenandoah at 1:30 a.m. leaving two companies behind. Brig.-Gen. Gobin was in command. On their arrival at Coaldale, three companies under command of Col. O'Neill were sent out to meet the Southside marchers. Three companies were left at Coaldale, while two companies under command of Gen. Gobin came here. When the soldiers had driven the strikers over the mountain, this company was sent back to Coaldale, where the soldiers boarded coal cars, and were sent to Tamaqua to quell any disturbance the scattering strikers might stir up there. Further along the road a company was deployed to protect a colliery while the marchers were passing it, and later it was also sent to Tamaqua. The three companies combined in the latter town and soon had the marchers well scattered.

While all this had been going on, the north side marchers had everything their own way in the Nesquehoning Valley. They reached there after 2 o'clock, and succeeded in persuading enough men to remain away from the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's No. 1 colliery to compel it to shut down. Gen. Gobin sent two companies of soldiers over there, and soon had order restored.

Superintendent W. D. Zehner of the company stated to a representative of the Associated Press that if Sheriff Brisiein of Carbon county, in which the colliery is located, had performed his duty in a proper manner, the Nesquehoning colliery would not have been shut down. Zehner said the remaining nine collieries of the company are working most of them full-handed.

NOT READY FOR TROOPS.

TIRED STRIKERS GET HOME.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAZLETON (Pa.,) Oct. 16.—The report that Frank Pardee, manager of the Calvin Pardee Company colliery at Cranberry had requested the Governor to send troops into Luzerne county is not exactly correct. Pardee tonight denied that he had done so, but said he and Gov. Stone had a talk on the advisability of having soldiers in this region. It is Pardee's belief that if troops were stationed here it would have considerable effect in the way of keeping the peace and preventing marches. Pardee added that the Governor told him that he would refer the matter to Gen. Gobin.

This was an exceedingly quiet day around the headquarters of the United Mine workers. President Mitchell spent most of the day in disposing of the mail which had accumulated during the miners' convention last week. He said he had received no communication or even intimation that the operators would accept the proposition made by the convention.

It was long after nightfall when the first of the strikers who marched to Panther Creek Valley returned. They were, for the most part, footsore and weary. The distance of eighteen miles from Hazleton to Coaldale is principally down grade, and the walk there was scarcely noticed by the strikers. The uphill march, however, with the addition of a sleepless night and the failure to accomplish their purpose, tended to dampen their ardor somewhat.

GETTING READY FOR WORK.

TERMS MADE WITH STRIKERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SCRANTON (Pa.,) Oct. 16.—The Gibbons Coal Company colliery in South Scranton is being put in order for work, and the company says it will begin operations tomorrow or next day, surely. This company has agreed to grant the strikers' demands if the strike is raised, and further that it will only raise enough coal to fill its contract with the school district. District Secretary Dempsey of the United Mine Workers said today that the board had not acted on the matter, but that in all likelihood the request of the company will be granted.

The Delaware and Hudson's two washeries at Carbondale and Oliphant have resumed operations after an idleness extending a month beyond the beginning of the strike.

A Hungarian laborer who went to work at the Carbondale washery was badly beaten in a saloon. He was not able to return to work.

STRIKERS RESTLESS

OVER DELAY IN SETTLEMENT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.,) Oct. 16. Some of the striking miners in the Wyoming Valley are getting restless over the delay in settling the strike. Many of them expected to be at work by tomorrow, but it now looks as though the fifth week would go by without operations being resumed. The operators are still of one mind and say: "If the men want to return to work at the 10 per cent. increase originally offered them, they are at liberty to do so."

PUTRID CANVASS AT SHAMOKIN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SHAMOKIN (Pa.,) Oct. 16.—Despite an active canvass made yesterday by a number of men to induce miners to go work between here and Hickory Ridge no one reported for duty today.

GLASS WORKS' MARCHERS.

INTERFERE WITH A FACTORY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HARTFORD CITY (O.,) Oct. 16. A body of striking glass workers belonging to Local Assembly No. 300, marched from here to Eaton, Ind., today and prevented the Bauer Window Glass factory from opening. The window glass factory has announced that it will open a provision store and thus escape boycotting.

IGNORES MINE WORKERS.

READING COMPANY RESTING.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—Up to the present time the Reading officials have given no formal consideration to the demand of the mine-workers' convention that the sliding scale be abolished. It has been stated that a meeting might be held today for the purpose, but inquiry at the company's office elicited the information that no conference had been held and that there is no indication of a meeting in the near future.

WILL END IN A WEEK.

OPINION OF COAL DEALERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Local coal dealers say that the great strike is fast nearing an end and that the miners will go back to work within a week. The heads of the big coal-carrying roads say little to confirm such an opinion, but one of them after being pressed for his own views, intimated that there would be a settlement in the near future.

Wholesale prices for coal have stiffened. This is due, it is said, to the fact that wholesale dealers feel that the strike will soon end, and wish to get a still bigger margin while it is yet possible. Retail prices range from $4.50 to $6.75, for white ash and $7 to $7.25 for red ash, delivered to families. The price before the strike was $5.

Jeffries Answers His Challengers.

Winner Entitled to the Whole Purse.

Pittsburgh Plays a Poor Ball Game—Racing Results. The Roped Arena.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Champion Jeffries is flooded with challenges, and is out tonight with a statement in which he says Sharkey and Corbett are not in earnest, and it is not probable either will ever be given a chance. Jeffries says he will never consent to split a purse with either Sharkey or Corbett, and is confident that neither will fight without that proviso. He continues:

"At present I am tied up with theatrical engagements, and will be for the next six months. When that time expires, I will make these same men fight or else prove conclusively that they were only bluffing. My reasons for demanding that the winner take the entire purse is that I am tired of splitting up money with my opponents. In my fight with Corbett, I was compelled to consent to split the money with him before he would enter the ring. However, if Fitz will only agree to fight, I will make an exception in his case, and box him on the terms of 75 per cent. to the winner.

"If Fitz continues to refuse my offer, then it is open to Gus Ruhlin, who, I think, is the next man entitled to a fight with me. Corbett has done more to kill boxing than any other fighter alive. Just one more fight like he and McCoy put up recently, and it will be all up with the sport. No one can ever say that I was mixed up in a fake fight. When I fight, I do my best."

RODE BAD RACE DID TURNER.

The Favorite Beaten for the Dixiana Stakes at Morris Park—Results.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Only one favorite finished first at Morris Park today. Gonfalon won the Dixiana stakes, but Killashandra, the favorite, was pounds the best, and should have won easily. Turner rode a very bad race, so much so that it was said it would be investigated. Results:

Seven furlongs: Rinaldo won, Oleo second, Fatalist third; time 1:31¾.

Six furlongs: Inshot won, Talcose second, Billionaire third; time 1:11¾.

FERNS'S SHOULDER BAD.

MATTY MATTHEWS WINNER.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DETROIT (Mich.,) Oct. 16.—Matty Matthews of New York and Rube Ferns of Buffalo met before the Cadillac Athletic Club tonight for the second time for the welterweight championship, and after fifteen rounds of fighting, Referee Silver gave the decision to Matthews. The decision on their former fight went to Ferns.

The latter was handicapped tonight by a bad shoulder. Both men weighed in at 140 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The decision was approved by the crowd.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Jack Root, the middleweight champion of the West, knocked out Dick O'Brien of Lewiston, Me., in three rounds tonight at Tattersall's.

Root kept O'Brien at long range by constant left-hand jabbing and the latter was unable to land a single effective blow throughout the fight. After 35 seconds of fighting in the third round, Root ended the one-sided contest with a straight left to the jaw. O'Brien had to be carrie to his corner after being counte out, and it was fully ten minutes before he was able to walk to his dressing-room.

KEPT UNDER SUSPICION.

ESCURIAL'S PECULIAR RUNNING.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] After a searching inquiry into the running of the American horse Escurial at Newmarket, October 11, the stewards of the Jockey Club have completely exonerated from all blame the owner, J. A. Drake, and Trainer Wishard.

Suspicion had been cast on Lester Reiff, the jockey, owing to Escurial losing, though he had been confidently expected to win. The stewards said that although they are not altogether satisfied they do not consider the evidence sufficient to prove that the horse was pulled or to justify the withdrawal of Reiff's license.

SUICIDE OF THOMAS F. LANE.

Senator Blackwell's Son-in-law Finds Relief from Ill Health in Death.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Thomas F. Lane, son-in-law of Senator Blackburn, committed suicide at his home here last night. Mr. Lane entered the house about 11 p.m. and shot himself in the presence of his little daughter, while his wife was resting on a couch in an adjoining room. Death was almost instantaneous. Mr. Lane was the American representative of the London firm of Vickers Sons & Maxim. It is said that he was driven to the act by brooding over his ill health. He was told some time ago that he had Bright's disease, and he allowed the matter to prey on his mind.

His wife, who was Lucille Blackburn, had a narrow escape from death by a pistol wound about three years ago. Mrs. Lane kept a loaded revolver in her bureau drawer and one night she was found in her room with a bullet wound in her breast. It was explained by the family that in taking some laces from the drawer, the pistol had been lifted up and, falling on the hammer, exploded. She lingered between life and death for some time, but ultimately recovered. The shock of last night's tragedy completely prostrated her, and she is now under the constant care of a physician.

Senator Blackburn was in Hagerstown, Md., last night, when the news of suicide reached him. He had been on a campaign tour of the State. He left as soon as possible for Washington and it is likely that the occurrence will force him to abandon any further active work in the campaign.

HORROR NOT OVERESTIMATED.

Gov. Sayers Says the Truth Regarding the Galveston Disaster Will Never Be Fully Known.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Gov. Joseph D. Sayers of Texas who is here attending the bazaar for the benefit of the Galveston sufferers said last night:

"The horror of Galveston has been in no way overestimated. The most conservative estimate of the loss of life places it at 6000 and estimates place it all the way from this minimum to a maximum of 12,000. The truth will never be known, for beyond question hundreds were swept away and their bodies sunk at sea. The property loss is in the millions—in the tens of millions, indeed. A great part of the city was destroyed and all was damaged. The business section suffered the least, but here also large sums must be expended to restore the buildings and streets to their normal condition.

"Thanks to the generosity of the people of all sections of the Union, the people of Galveston are no longer in want. They have recovered from the first shock of the disaster and are all at work to restore the city to its original condition. Their bravery and pluck in the face of calamity merit the highest praise. It is really wonderful the courage they are showing. I shall be here but a few days and shall return to Texas as my duties in connection with the bazaar are ended."

In response to an inquiry as to whether, in his opinion, the new Galveston could be made safe from the danger of a future storm, Gov. Sayers said: "I think that much can be done looking to the safety of the new city, but I don't believe that there will be a repetition of the frightful hurricane that visited us. If a storm of such awful proportions should strike this city it would utterly wreck it. You do not appreciate here the tremendous strength of the elements as it was shown at Galveston. No safeguards of human construction could have withstood it. But such a storm is not likely to come again; we have no fear of that."

TYPHOONS SWEPT JAPAN.

Caused Loss of Lives and Property.

Villages Up and Down Coast Flooded.

Hundreds of Fishermen Perish. Fatal Marine Disaster—Yokohama Notes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VICTORIA, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The steamship Empress brings news that severe typhoons have devastated the Japanese coast, and many lives are reported lost, as well as much property destroyed. The storms had a wide range, the whole island group feeling their influence. Tokio suffered severely from both storm and flood. Three deaths were reported at Numadzu; some two hundred fishermen were blown to sea, and it is reported they were all drowned.

The Empress had a trying experience, but suffered no damage, while mail steamer China had boats smashed and her rails swept. Passengers have drafted a memorial to Capt. Seabury, thanking him "for the preservation of their lives by his good management and control during the night of terrible memory."

A Japanese schooner was wrecked at Yokohama and several other wrecks of Japanese craft were reported. Hundreds of houses were destroyed, and hundreds were flooded in villages up and down the coast.

MARINE DISASTER.

THIRTY-THREE LIVES LOST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VICTORIA (B. C.,) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] News of a marine disaster, as the result of which there perished thirty-three people, nineteen of whom were foreigners, five hailing from the United States, was brought by the steamer Empress of Japan. The Norwegian steamer Calanda, a new steamer of 3000 tons, was making her third voyage from Port Arthur with a general cargo for Japanese ports, and when off Iowashima she was run down by the Ise Maru. She had forty passengers and a crew of twenty, with five foreign officers. The Ise Maru picked up the survivors and brought them into Nagasaki two days prior to the sailing of the Empress.

The foreigners on the Calanda were at dinner when the crash came. They rushed forward, but the captain drove them back. A few minutes later a rending sound was heard and water rushed in through the vessel's side. Two foreigners, twelve Japanese and some Chinese escaped in a boat, and twenty-two of the crew, including the captain and second officer, were rescued by the Ise Maru. Thirty-three were drowned.

ADVICES FROM JAPAN.

AMERICAN FIRM BANKRUPT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 5. (wired from Victoria, B. C., Oct. 16.)—The bankruptcy of one of the leading American firms in Yokohama, that of Middleton & Smith which was announced yesterday, is attracting much attention, although it has been known in private circles to have been pending for some time. The debts of the firm aggregate 230,000 yen, mainly to the principal banks of the city. Business generally is in a precarious condition on account of the troubles in China. Fully 2,000,000 yen worth of imported goods have recently accumulated in the customs warehouses in Yokohama and the authorities are greatly perplexed to know how to deal with them while the go-downs of the foreign firms are filled to their utmost capacity.

The government has decided to have the whole of the Fifth Division in North China during the winter, it having been noticed that other powers, not even Russia excepted, are fully increasing their forces. It is also remarked that there is an increasing tendency toward independent action by the different allied contingents. A British squadron is guarding Chin Wang Day; Russian troops are marching on Chan Hai Kwan. The Germans are making their base of operations in Shangtung. The Japanese are in force in Peking, while the movements of the Americans are not known, the prevalent rumor being that they have nearly all been ordered to Manilla.

The whole American policy is causing great perplexity here. The American residents find it difficult to answer the growing foreign criticism as to the cause of the seeming vacillation. At a meeting of the Japanese-American Association in Tokio last week, a speech by the United States Minister, Col. Buck, had a very excellent effect in allaying these perplexities.

ROME, Oct. 17.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Tribune publishes correspondence from Aussara, southwest of Massowah, describing the massacre of an expedition to Lake Asaal. The expedition is said to have been composed of British, but it is more likely the members were French, as the lake is situated in possessions ceded to France by Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia.

Answer Filed to Los Angeles Complaint—Superior Judge Arrested—Robberies.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 16.—The forty-sixth annual encampment of Odd Fellows is in session. The principal business of the day was the nomination of officers. They are: Grand Patriarch, R. [illegible]; Grand High Priest, C. H. [illegible]; Grand Senior Warden, A. C. [illegible] (renominated;) Grand Treasurer, Henry C. George (renominated;) Grand Junior Warden, W. H. Woodcock; John A. Foster, James Ashman, [illegible] Joseph Jessen and Louis [illegible], Grand Representative, Joseph [illegible], H. W. Winn, W. S. [illegible] and F. A. Week. The election will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Several cities of California are out for the next session of the grand encampment. Among them are Merced, [illegible] Eureka and Paso Robles. The [illegible] cities for next year will also be selected Wednesday.

A public reception tonight at [illegible] Hall was attended by an immense crowd.

At Recreation Park, tomorrow, there will be a football game between Willamette and Shasta county High School teams for the interest of the Red [illegible] and other visitors not delegates to the encampment. In the evening the Encampment and Golden Rule degrees will be conferred by Occidental Encampment, No. 46, of Sacramento, and [illegible], No. 67, of San Francisco.

Tuesday will be what the Odd Fellows are pleased to call a "big day." In the morning there will be the parade, in the afternoon, competitive drills by canton and the Rebekah degree for trophies and cash prizes. Much rivalry exists. There will be [illegible] parades, reviews and decoration of chivalry publicly conferred, and with a grand ball, which will close Friday with a [illegible] over the picturesque [illegible] Railway to the great [illegible] resort of Keswick.

LOS ANGELES CASE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The Southern California Railway Valley Railroad today filed a demurrer to the complaint of the Railroad Commission and the Traffic Association. The demurrer asserts that the complaint states facts insufficient to constitute a cause of action, and that the court has no jurisdiction in the matter.

The Southern Pacific filed its demurrer a few days ago. The Los Angeles case is to suing the Southern Pacific and the three Santa Fe lines [illegible] because of alleged discrimination in their part in favor of San Francisco in the matter of freight rates to the San Joaquin Valley.

WRECK AT SAN LEANDRO.

WORK TRAIN HITS FREIGHT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 16.—A work train consisting of engine No. 1718 and a caboose, in charge of Conductor Prather, Engineer Walter Cushing and Fireman E. Joyce, crashed into the rear of a freight train on the Southern Pacific Railroad half a mile east of San Leandro this morning, at 6:13 o'clock. The freight caboose was telescoped by the work-train engine and a loaded coal car immediately in front of the caboose. Both cars were reduced to splinters and the engine was badly wrecked.

A. Myers, agent named Eddie Jones was in the caboose, but saved his life by jumping through a window. Engineer Cushing of the work engine says the collision was occasioned by a heavy fog and the absence of lights on the rear of the freight train.

BIG CUSTOMS FRAUDS

CARRIED ON BY ORIENTALS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.,) Oct. 16.—Large customs frauds carried on by Chinese and Japanese are reported to have been unearthed by American officials at the boundary line between Vancouver and Whatcom. Several hundred Chinese a month are said to have been railroaded through by Canadians, who are paid from $5 to $25 a head. Plans of the route and maps are even provided, showing the unguarded trails, and these are several in number.

It takes about three nights usually for trips to be made, and orientals are being illegally taken through, sleeping in the day time and walking at night. They all carry more or less opium, which is also smuggled in sloops crossing the Gulf of Georgia.

HOBOES MUST LEAVE.

ORDER ISSUED AT SAN JOSE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Oct. 16.—San José is having an epidemic of robberies and burglaries. This forenoon, Jim Green, the pugilist, was arrested for holding up C. J. Hogland to the tune of $42 on the Alameda before daybreak. Later, John Dunn reported that he had been robbed of $15 and a watch, and on seeing Green identified him as one of the robbers. Last night four burglaries were reported from the Alameda, household articles constituting the plunder.

The Chief of Police issued an order tonight warning all hobos and disreputable characters to leave town within twenty-four hours.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

EASTERN STAR MIXES THEM.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Oct. 16.—Between five hundred and six hundred delegates were present at Home Union Hall this afternoon when the grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star of the jurisdiction of California and Nevada was called to order by Grand Worthy Matron Mrs. Fannie McCowan. After the service, committees were appointed and an adjournment taken until tomorrow morning, when the real work of the chapter will begin.

This evening the local Reception Committee tendered a reception to the grand officers and delegates. Judge M. H. Hyland made a felicitous address of welcome, after which came vocal and instrumental selections, winding up with a dance.

UGLY TALE OF SEA.

FEARS FOR SHIP LANCING.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 16.—The British ship Lancing which left Port Blakeley on June 1, bound for Port Pirie, Australia, is now out 138 days, and 20 per cent reinsurance has been offered on her. She has a cargo of nearly 1,- 000,000 feet of lumber. A story is current in shipping circles that the crew has mutinied, killed Capt. Chapman and located on Bonham Island in the South Seas, after wrecking the vessel, but this report lacks verification.

FORESTERS' HIGH COURT.

IN SESSION AT SANTA CRUZ.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 16.—The High Court of Independent Order of Foresters was called to order in annual session at Odd Fellows' Hall today by High Chief Ranger G. A. McElfresh. About three hundred delegates are in attendance. After the usual committees were appointed, the High Court degree was conferred on ninety-eight new delegates and eleven honorary members.

The High Chief Ranger, in his report recommended that hereafter triennial instead of annual sessions be held, and that high court dues be lowered to 75 cents per annum, so that a large sum can be saved and set aside in employing of competent organizers. High Secretary Perry reported 166 courts in this State, with a membership of 9254. The membership increased 736 during the year. The number suspended was 696, the number withdrawn 265. The net assets of the high court amount to $5,353.32.

A band concert was given tonight followed by a reception to delegates at the operahouse. The address of welcome was made by Mayor Parker and responded to by High Chief Ranger McElfresh. The parade takes place tomorrow morning.

WARD WILL GO FREE.

IMPORTANT COURT RULING.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN RAFAEL, Oct. 16.—Judge F. M. Angellotti of the Superior Court of this county passed upon an important point today, which came up before him upon a writ of habeas corpus. The case was that of R. W. Ward, serving four years at San Quentin from Fresno county for larceny, convicted at two different times. The judge in his opinion stated that there was no specification in either judgment and that it was to commence at the expiration of the other sentence, and that such was not the case when both convictions were had prior to sentence on either. Therefore the sentences should run concurrently and both had been satisfied. Therefore the defendant was entitled to his liberty.

RUSH'S EVENTFUL CRUISE.

ALASKAN NATIVES DYING OFF.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORT TOWNSEND (Wash.,) Oct. 16. The United States revenue cutter Rush arrived today from an eventful cruise in Bering sea and is the first of the fleet to return. During her cruise she steamed about 1500 miles and rendered assistance to eighteen vessels in distress along the Alaskan coast besides doing patrol duty in the interest of sealing. Capt. Cushing reports finding the natives in a wretched condition, suffering from hunger and disease.

The Rush was engaged in taking the census of the islands and on Attu found only seventy-three persons, including men, women and children. On Atka Island, the largest of the Aleutian group, 137 remain of a once numerous tribe and since leaving that island twenty-seven deaths were reported. At the present rate of decrease, Capt. Cushing predicts that the natives on the Aleutian islands will soon become extinct.

TELEGRAPH TO DAWSON.

TO BE COMPLETED SOON.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.,) Oct. 16.—Advices from Dawson state that the steamers just in from St. Michael bring word that the United States telegraph system in the Yukon will be completed from Nome to Tanana by Christmas. The line from Dawson northward to Eagle on the American side will be concluded a month hence. Dawson and the outside world will be connected inside of two months. So by Christmas the stretch between Eagle and Tanana alone will remain to be built to connect Nome with the world at large. That stretch is 800 miles.

The United States government will dispatch mail from Dawson to Tanana every week this winter. This will bring Nome materially nearer the outside world than it was last winter.

FAST MAIL WRECKED.

ENGINE GOES DOWN A BANK.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

POCATELLO (Idaho,) Oct. 16.—The Oregon Short Line's fast mail was wrecked at Topas, thirty miles east of here, this afternoon by running into the rear end of freight train standing on the main line. The engine of the passenger train rolled down the embankment and Engineer Beckman and Fireman George were badly injured. An unknown tramp was killed and another had his leg crushed.

REAL ESTATE SALES.

N. E. S. writes: A widow, Mrs. N, owns a house and lot in the State of Wisconsin, which is leased verbally to Mr. P, the lease expiring November 1, 1900. Mr. P, who has been highly recommended to the lessor, writes to her asking to buy the house. She writes him in answer at the expiration of his lease if they can agree on the price she will give him the refusal of the house and lot. On the 15th of July a Mr. H. writes her that he can sell her house and lot for her price—$700 above and over the commission. As soon as possession can be given she writes the lessee that, by the 1st of September, she will inform him if she can sell to him. Then she writes Mr. P that she can sell the house for $700 cash, and in good faith, and under the agreement asks if he, Mr. P, wants the house for the same sum. P telegraphs to N: "Property sold; money in bank; wait for a letter." This is on August 20 and on August 24 a letter comes from P stating that he had sold the property and the money was in bank at N's disposal; sending a deed all made out and ready to sign and acknowledge, which N does, and she returns the deed to the bank, ordering the bank to send a draft for the money to her address and deliver the deed to P. Then H writes to N threatening to compel her to comply with his offer. N telegraphs to the bank to hold the deed and wait for a letter. N finds that H has no case; telegraphs the 17th of September to the bank to send the draft and deliver the deed at once. In the mean time P writes N that he, P, has turned his business over to L, his attorney, as he is away so much of the time. (P is a traveling man.) N does not get the money, but, on September 22, N receives a letter from the attorney, L, that she, N, had forgotten to instruct the bank to pay P $50 commission, and that he, L, represented P, and he would be compelled to attach the money at the bank, which might tend to make trouble, and that she, N, had better wire the bank to pay P $50 commission at once. N received papers from Missouri September 4 which contains a notice of sale of N's property to a Mr. A by P for the consideration of $750. N sends a telegram to the bank September 24 to "send draft for full amount, $700, immediately; answer." September 29 N gets a letter from the bank that they have no money to send N for her house, but Mr. P has served an attachment on the bank stopping the money in the bank, and for N to please advise the bank what to do in the matter. Now, what can N do in this case? Can she recover her deed? P and L are worth comparatively nothing; can N get damages from the bank, and will she have to pay the commission? There was nothing said about a commission by P to N till they got the deed in their hands, and N, through this delay, had to borrow money to pay off a mortgage on some property.

Answer: The bank is not liable for anything. It virtually held the deed in escrow until conditions were fulfilled on both sides.

As to the agent, it seems from your statement that he fulfilled his contract. He must sell the house and lot for $700, for which he pledges himself to you. But there was to be a commission over and above this; and it seems that he deposited $750 in all and charged $50 commission for his agency. That fulfills your claim and pays his commission besides, which was the contract. He is entitled to all above $700, according to its terms. He is not entitled to take anything out of the $700, but only the balance of the deposit, after the $700 is sent to you. And that seems to be all he claims.

MECHANICS' LIENS.

T. P. E.—The statute allowing mechanics' liens is regarded as a remedial statute, and in order to carry out the purpose of its enactment, it is to receive a liberal construction; and, accordingly, the notices which its provisions require to be given have regard to substance rather than form. This is the rule everywhere. (See Rapalje's [illegible] Am. Dec. & R.)

CONFLICT OF LAWS, CORPORATIONS, VOLUNTARY ASSIGNMENT.

S. D.—A debt due from residents of California to a corporation chartered in another State has no situs in California, but is, in the contemplation of law, in the State of its charter, and is there vested in the corporation, up to the time of a legal assignment thereof by the corporation. The law, however, is the reverse of this in other States; as for example, Tennessee, where the statute provides that when a corporation chartered in another State is allowed to do business in Tennessee, it thereby becomes a quasi domestic corporation.

Yet, as to California, a legal assignment by the foreign corporation for the benefit of its creditors made in a State other than that of its charter in which it was doing business, and made in conformity with the laws of that State, to a resident thereof, vests title in the assignee to a debt due to the corporation from residents of California; so that such debt cannot thereafter be attached in California by a creditor of the corporation.

A contract, valid by the law of the place where it is made, is, as a general rule, valid everywhere; and a voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors, which is valid by the laws of the State where it is made, will operate to convey personal property not already subject to liens in every State where it may be found.

PLAYING TO THE GALLERIES.

A dispatch from Chicago brings the information that James K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and William R. Hearst, president of the National Association of Democratic Clubs, have jointly issued a circular which reads as follows:

"To the Democratic Clubs: In the free exercise of the right of suffrage lies the safety of the republic. Every patriot, every honest man, is interested in preserving this right at all hazards. Will you, therefore, every man of you, please report promptly to one of us every instance coming to your knowledge of any attempt to coerce or intimidate any voter by any employer, whether a single person, a company or a corporation, and whether attempted by direct threat, by the postponement of orders received conditional on the election of McKinley, or otherwise? Every such offender deserves, like Cain, to be made a fugitive and a vagabond on the face of the earth, and the public ought to know who they are.

JAMES K. JONES,
"WILLIAM R. HEARST."

This is a distinct and ostentatious deal disgusting play to the galleries. It is an audacious bid for votes, on the silly pretext that there is to be an attempt at coercion and intimidation of employés by Republican employers. Of course there is no such intention on the part of employers in any section of the country. Under the Australian ballot system, which prevails in nearly every State of the Union, such a thing as coercion is impossible. The voter, when he enters the voting booth, is alone with his conscience, and subject only to its dictation. He may vote for such candidates as he prefers, and there is no power in the world that can compel him to vote otherwise; nor can any man know how he votes, unless he, himself, see fit to tell.

Messrs. Jones and Hearst know this to be a fact. Every man of sense and intelligence knows it to be a fact. The issuance by Messrs. Jones and Hearst of their bombastic circular is simply a cheap and vulgar campaign trick, based upon monstrously false assumptions designed solely to "split the ears of the groundlings," and incidentally to win a few votes for Bryan by spreading false reports, creating false impressions, and exciting ignorant prejudice against Republicans and Republicanism.

By all means, let every man-jack of the Democratic club members report promptly to Jones and Hearst every instance coming to his knowledge, of "any attempt to coerce or intimidate any voter by any employer." Let such report not be made alone to Messrs. Jones and Hearst, but let the information be spread broadcast, in order that if there be any such attempts, the person or persons guilty of making them may be branded as infamous. No Republicans, no American citizens worthy of the name, desire to have the ballot corrupted. Party success, upon the one side or the other, is purchased dearly when it is secured at the expense of the overthrow or perversion of the public will.

If any real cases of the kind be brought to light, Republicans will heartily cooperate in securing, and will insist upon, the punishment of the guilty parties. But there should be no partisanship in the work of bringing to justice any persons who may be guilty of an invasion of the sacred rights of the franchise. If there is to be coercion or intimidation of voters, it will as certainly be practiced on behalf of Bryan as on behalf of the Republican ticket. Let no guilty man escape.

Messrs. Jones and Hearst say truly that "in the free exercise of the right of suffrage lies the safety of the republic," and that "every patriot, every honest man, is interested in preserving this right at all hazards." The devil quoting quite scripture with any more gibberish than Messrs. Jones and Hearst evince in parroting these moral and obvious truths. But how about the party to which they owe allegiance? The men who prate of "the free exercise of the right of suffrage, and of the purity of the ballot," should hold themselves in readiness to defend that right and to conserve that purity upon all possible occasions and under all circumstances. It is a notorious fact, which even Messrs. Jones and Hearst will hardly deny, that if there were "a free exercise of the right of suffrage" throughout the States which will give their electoral votes to Bryan, the latter would not carry half a dozen of those States. Only by the disfranchisement or intimidation of thousands upon thousands of voters in those States can they be carried for Bryan. And in the State of Kentucky a defeated Democratic candidate is now exercising the functions of Governor, through the throwing out of over 5000 ballots cast for the Republican candidate.

Messrs. Jones and Hearst approve of these unspeakable frauds against free government; and yet they have the presumption to talk about "the free exercise of the right of suffrage."

If every supporter of Mr. Bryan who has been guilty of perverting the right of suffrage or of intimidating voters were to be "made a fugitive and a vagabond on the face of the earth," there would be precious few Democratic voters left in the States which will give him their electoral votes at the coming election; and "the face of the earth" would be pretty thickly dotted over with fugitives and vagabonds.

THE CHINESE SITUATION.

M. Delcasse, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, announced at a council held at the Elysee Palace yesterday morning, that all of the foreign powers have accepted the French note as the basis for negotiations. M. Delcasse further stated that he had been informed that Li Hung Chang has ordered the Black Flags and Kwang Si troops, which are on their way to join the court at Sian Fu, to return to Canton.

A dispatch from Shanghai confirms the report that on Saturday the allied forces captured Pao Ting Fu. The allies numbered 9000, and met with little resistance.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg states that the Russian government has permitted it to become known that its attitude in China will be one of increasing independence of the concert of the powers. Russia, it is explained, is disposed to attach less value to joint action since her interests have been fully secured by the successful campaign in Manchuria. Moreover, Russia is not willing to "follow the irreconcilable policy of some of the powers."

Confirmation has been received in Washington of the execution on July 20, of Chang Yan Hoon, formerly Chinese Minister to the United States. It is explained that Chang was a loyal adherent of the Emperor and a warm supporter of the latter's reform movements. When the Empress Dowager supplanted the Emperor two years ago he was banished to Nebraska, but through the intervention of the American and British Ministers, his punishment was commuted to banishment in the district and province of Kashgaria. The Empress Dowager, taking advantage of the late reign of terror at Peking and knowing Chang's influence with the Emperor, ordered his execution by decapitation. Chang was considered by those familiar with his affairs as one of the ablest men in China.

A special dispatch to the New York World from Hongkong says: "Americans and their extensive interests in the far south of China are imperiled by the rebellion in Kwang Tung province. Already the revolt is grown to such proportions that the Chinese authorities are unable to suppress it. Mr. Wildman, the United States Consul-General at Hongkong, has gone to Manila to confer over the critical situation with Gen. MacArthur, the commander-in-chief of the American troops in the Philippines."

On November 10, 1898, William R. Hearst, then as now editor and proprietor of the New York Journal and the San Francisco Examiner, said in the Journal, over his own signature: "It is both right and reasonable that the policy of expansion, over the policy of the American people since Jefferson annexed the Louisiana, should receive the approval of the American voters, Republican and Democratic." And this is the same Hearst who was chairman of the Reception Committee appointed to welcome Bryan to New York yesterday, and who is doing his best to promote a policy directly opposed to that of expansion. If "expansion" was right two years ago it is right now.

Col. Bryan is once more in "the enemy's country;" and that country is just as inimical to him as it was four years ago, if not more so.

Charles A. Towne is making Bryanite speeches. It is not stated, publicly what office he has been promised in the event of Bryan's election.

EL CAMINO REAL.

One of the subjects that will doubtless receive the attention of the Good Roads Convention which is to meet in this city next week is the project for the construction of El Camino Real, an interesting proposition to which reference has been made in The Times.

El Camino Real is, or was, the official name by which the courier's route from San Diego to San Francisco was known in Spanish California. There are twenty-one stations of this route—a Franciscan day's journey apart—still connected by an entirely practicable road. This road is almost its entire length a county road, with its present succession of American county seats and Franciscan missions. The United States Office of Public Road Inquiry has issued a map of a coastwise and transcontinental roadway, as planned in Washington. The Pacific terminus of the transcontinental road is upon this map San Francisco. That of the coastwise road is, in the south, San Diego. Los Angeles lies upon any coastwise line, according to the old Franciscan tradition, three mission days from San Diego and eighteen from San Francisco. The Camino Real is practically 500 miles of suggested United States coastwise road between San Diego and San Francisco.

There is a California movement to ask Congress, during its next session, that any survey for a coastwise road, planned as a national boulevard, take into consideration the claims and the practicability of the Camino Real. The Office of Road Inquiry has already expressly stated that, recognizing the action of Los Angeles county and Southern California, it would in such a survey recommend beginning simultaneously in California and Massachusetts.

The plan of the Camino Real will be brought out at the next annual session. The papers descriptive of the plan sent to Washington by the Pasadena Exhibition Association, which organization is the originator of the project, will be placed in the hands of the proper committee by Mr. Eldridge, acting director of the United States Office of Road Inquiry, who takes much interest in the enterprise. Mr. Eldridge has suggested that the necessary recommendations to Congress be made by the State and Interstate Good Roads and Public Improvement Association, the president of which is W. E. Moore, who will be in Los Angeles next week to attend the good-roads convention. The fact that the proposed Camino Real is practically the same as the coastwise road shown in the printed map of the United States year-book of agriculture for 1897, should facilitate the securing of an appropriation.

It is now desired to induce the boards of supervisors of the other Southern California counties to join with Los Angeles county in making an appeal to Washington and in making a suitable exhibit at Buffalo, through the Chamber of Commerce, along the same lines which have given the Pasadena association gold medals at Omaha and at Paris. Mr. Eldridge believes that Congress may grant an appropriation for the exhibit at Buffalo of the Office of Road Inquiry. Such an exhibit would represent the proposed transcontinental boulevard, and possibly the Camino Real.

A first-class boulevard, built according to the most approved modern methods of road construction, and extending across the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with branch roads on each side of the continent, would do more to stimulate the interest of the public and encourage the building of permanent highways than would a decade of discussion. The United States, which leads the world in so many branches of modern improvements, is lamentably backward in the matter of public highways. The importance of the subject is shown by a statement recently published to the effect that bad roads cost the farmers of the country more than $100,000,000 annually. That amount would build a great many miles of model highway.

Here are the names of a few of the prominent Democrats—not all, by any means—who will vote for President McKinley on the 6th of November: J. G. Carlisle, Secretary of the Treasury under Cleveland; Charles S. Fairchild, also former Secretary of the Treasury in Cleveland's Cabinet; Don M. Dickinson, Postmaster-General under Cleveland; J. Sterling Morton, Cleveland's Secretary of Agriculture; George Hoadley, former Democratic Governor of Ohio; James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency under Cleveland, and W. C. P. Breckinridge, ex-Congressman from Kentucky. There are scores of others, but these will serve as samples.

It is always well for a town to have some public improvement in progress. Santa Ana observes this rule, and as a result that place is just now enjoying the benefit of the services of a considerable force of men who are working for their board, breaking rock for a new courthouse. These men who, "without any visible means of support," were following a circus, are given much-needed employment. When they shall have worked out their time, they will be better prepared to earn a living—which they will seek elsewhere many grunts.

William Jennings Bryan, speaking in the city of Peoria, Ill., four years ago, made use of the following language:

"If I am elected, so far as the President of the United States has influence, there will not be a moment lost in passing a law for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1."

Has Mr. Bryan changed his mind in regard to the question of silver coinage during the past four years? Or does he stand ready now, as then, to fulfill the pledge if elected President? "We pause for a reply."

The Democrats of Kings county, N. Y., in which Brooklyn is situated, have renominated four of five men who represent the districts of that county in the present House of Representatives. All of these Congressmen voted for the bill establishing the gold standard. The other Representative from that county was not renominated and the Republican Eagle says he was turned down because he voted against the gold-standard bill. Brooklyn's enthusiasm for Bryan's pet hobby is manifest.

The secret of Webster Davis's zeal in behalf of the Boers is out at last, if it is true that the consideration which he received for his treason to party and country was $125,000. The surprising thing about this matter is that the Boers would pay so high a price for Web. Davis, when he isn't worth, at an outside figure, more than thirty cents.

A child has been refused admission to this country because it is an idiot. This seems severe, but this country cannot afford to be an asylum for idiots, lunatics or anarchists—nor for Bryanarchists, for that matter.

Men of all parties, Republican, Democratic or Prohibition, will be justified in voting for Silver at the Los Angeles municipal election. The ratio may not be quite 16 to 1, but it should be somewhere near those figures.

Large numbers of Democrats all over the country are leaving the sinking ship of Bryanism and are coming over to the good old Republican ship, which is staunch and sound in every timber.

Why shouldn't the Prohibitionists vote for Bryan? He says the country is intoxicated with prosperity, and evidently he wants to put an end to the intoxication.

The New York Press is warning its readers that it is not a cyclone coming from the West—only the brazen Roosevelt is bringing with him.

Politics should not be paramount in the municipal campaign. A decent, reputable, honorable administration should be the first consideration.

There are convincing indications that Mr. Bryan will discover on the morning after the election that Nebraska, too, is the "enemy's country."

The expansion which the Bryanarchists most deplore is that of the Republican party.

ALASKA SHAKES FOR SIX HOURS.

Twenty-seven Distinct Shocks in One Day—A Life and Property Lost.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 16.—Advices received here today by the Associated Press from Kodiak, Alaska, tell of a series of earthquakes which were felt in that place October 9. The tremblings began at 1:35 a.m., and lasted at intervals for six hours. Much damage was done to property, but only one life was lost, so far as can be ascertained at present. At Mariuk, ninety miles from Kodiak, the bark Meron, loading salmon for San Francisco, broke from her moorings and was driven on the shore in the fierce storm which accompanied the earthquake. One sailor, name unknown, was drowned, but the rest of the crew were saved. The cargo, consisting of 12,500 cases of salmon, was lost.

The first shock felt at Kodiak created havoc in the stores at that place. The Alaska Commercial Company lost about $300 worth of drugs. At Wood Island, the North American Company lost a quantity of breakable goods. The wharf at that place was also destroyed. Other people at the different places also lost breakable goods.

In all, twenty-seven distinct shocks were felt, and the earth was in a continual tremor for six hours. The first shock was most severe, lasting three minutes. The vibrations were from east to west, and were accompanied by a low, rumbling sound.

HANGING OF KING.

HE TOOK IT AS A JOKE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 16.—Dawson advices received today tell of the hanging of Alexander King, October 2, for the murder of Herbert Davenport, on the Yukon River on July 15. King passed a good night preceding the hanging, and never once showed the slightest sign of fear. He walked to the gallows steadily and required no assistance at any time. He was cool enough to talk to the hangman in a joking way while the latter was adjusting the noose. When asked if he had anything to say he replied:

"No, nothing to raise a sensation—no lies to tell. Be sure you fix it right. Don't strangle me," he continued to the hangman. He died without a quiver when the drop was sprung.

He had no property or relatives, so far as known. He was about 50 years of age, and had been a prospector all his life. At his own request he was executed in his rough miner's garb, with moccasins and all.

GREAT VINTAGE FEAST.

Notable Attraction at the Paris Exposition—Procession of Allegorical Cars Causes Enthusiasm.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The great vintage feast of the Paris Exposition took place this afternoon. The exposition grounds were crowded, in spite of the admission having been raised.

K. B. Sllvain, the actor of the Comedie Francaise, declaimed a glorification of the vine, written especially for the occasion by M. Claretian. The procession of allegorical cars and guards, trumpeters and grape pickers, gaily bedecked with Nymphs and Bacchantes, dancing around Bacchus and Silenus, proved very attractive and created enthusiasm.

Power Company's Big Mortgage.

VALLEJO, Oct. 16.—A big mortgage has been recorded at Fairfield. It is given by the Bay Counties Power Company to the Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco, for $2,250,000, for thirty years at 5 per cent., on all of their property, real, personal and mixed in this State.

PROMINENT PEOPLE.

The Emperor of Austria has issued an order forbidding the use of any sort of automobile during the Austrian manoeuvers or in the Austrian army.

One of the reckless extravagances of the Maharajah of Bhurtpore, who has recently been deposed by the government of India, was the purchase of a silver coach costing £10,000.

Only the present elder generation of the Vanderbilt family has written the name as one word. The first comers wrote it Van der Bilt; the commodore, Van Derbilt, and his brothers, Van derbilt.

It is just forty-nine years since Queen Victoria completed the purchase of Balmoral from the late Earl of Fife. The Duke, his son, has largely reduced his possessions, but they are still very considerable.

It is not generally known that the King of Portugal is a talented artist. His Majesty spends a great deal of his leisure time in making studies of familiar scenes along the coast or in studies of the ocean. His favorite medium is pastel.

Senator Depew was asked the other day regarding the education of the rich. He replied that all young men should be so taught as to be able to earn their own living. "There never was a Vanderbilt," he said, "who could not, if left without a cent, earn his own living. And they have all been the better for it."

Lord Roberts has ordered from a London jeweler five watches of the kind known as "turn-cladies" for presentation to his Indian orderlies. The watched bear the following inscription: "Presented by Field Marshal Roberts to ——, his faithful and unwearied personal orderly throughout the South African campaign, 1900."

Frank Stockton's illness has made him appreciate the quiet retreat of his West Virginia home from the noise and excitement of city life. In spite of the illness, however, his 68 years of age and his white hair and moustache, he retains his mental vigor, works every day in his large library and will soon send from there a new book.

Thomson Kingsford, who died recently in Oswego, N. Y., constructed with his own hands the little 4-horse-power engine that was the first employed in the newly-discovered process of extracting starch from Indian corn. He was 72 years old, and had retired from active business several years before his death, although retaining large interests in the industry that he and his father founded.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Bryan's Hard Job.

[St. Louis Star:] Bryan's task is a difficult one. It is hard to convince a well-fed and well-clothed community that it is either starving or naked.

Having Its Effect.

[Omaha Bee:] Even the faint shadow of Bryanism on the national sky is having its effect on industrial life. Do the workingmen want the substance of calamity?

"Don't Hurt 'Em."

[New York Mail and Express:] All that Bryan has to say to his western friends concerning the Tammany ice trust is that it doesn't hurt them. And Bryan can dodge in other ways than this, too.

No Political Orders.

[Kansas City Journal:] The traveling men still disregard the order to get together and form Bryan marching clubs. The traveling men are this year taking orders from merchants, not politicians.

Real Paramount Issue.

[Chicago Times-Herald:] Senator Hoar regards "Bryanism" as the paramount issue in this campaign, and believes it presents a greater menace to the national welfare than the retention of the Philippines.

No Interruption.

[Pittsburgh Times:] Next year, instead of running a farm to afford illustrations in a campaign, Bryan may as well commence to farm for a livelihood. He will hardly be interrupted any further by politics.

William the Silent.

[Cleveland Leader:] Bryan is still silent as to the methods resorted to by North Carolina Democrats to keep that State solid for Bryanism. He is not willing that the Declaration of Independence should apply to that State.

Bryan's Bethestation.

[Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune:] There are two things bothering Mr. Bryan. One is how the country got along before he came upon the scene, and the other is how it will get along when he is gone or laid upon the shelf.

They Will—Nit!

[Toledo Blade:] Bryan's campaign in the East is a farce. The Democratic National Committee has headquarters at the Hoffman House, but not a document of any kind has been sent out, nor any other actual campaign work been done. And yet the western Bryanites talk of carrying New York!

An Awkward Position.

[Indianapolis News:] Certain prominent Democrats are supporting Bryan on the theory that he can't do anything with free silver; the South does not think he can check expansion, materially, and Tammany evidently does not believe he can destroy trusts. What is the poor man to do, even if he is elected?

RIPPLES OF MIRTH.

An Explanation.

[Chicago News:] (Smith:) "I wonder why that messenger boy is running." (Jones:) "He probably has a telegram for the umpire at the baseball grounds."

In the Bill.

[Journal Amusant:] "Here, waiter, you have charged for three soups instead of two."

"Yes, sir; there is the one I spilled on madame's dress."

His Idea.

[Puck:] (Nephew:) "This hotel is run on the European plan——"

(Uncle Josh:) "How's that? Do they charge Americans twice as much as anybody else?"

Bit of Philosophy.

[Washington Star:] "Da ain't er bit ob use," said Uncle Eben, "foh er man ter hab er heap ob book larnin, in de upper story of he hain't got no common sense on de groun' floah."

Her Greatest Shame.

[Chicago Times-Herald:] (He:) Have you ever read any of Marie Corelli's stories?

(She:) No, but once when the cruse was at its height I put on bloomers.

Point of View.

[Chicago News:] (White:) "I understand young Green lost all the money his father left him on the races, and he's now looking for a job. He won't have no soft a thing as he has had."

(Brown:) "Oh, I don't know! he'll have a soft thing so long as he doesn't lose his head."

Diminished Incentive.

[Washington Star:] "I suppose you have been a good boy," said the youngster's uncle.

"Well," was the answer, "I haven't had to be as good as usual. You see, we only have one circus a summer nowadays."

Fine Fun.

[New York World:] "Enjoyed your party, Bobby?"

"Yes, ma."

"Well, what little girls did you dance with?"

"Oh, I didn't dance; I had three fights downstairs with Willie Richardson, and I licked him every time."

Tempora Mutantur.

[Detroit Journal:] No, it was not to her sitting in a hammock with a young man, merely, that her mamma objected.

But did she know where his arm was?

Mildred laughed the insouciant laugh of buoyant youth.

"Why, I naturally supposed it was around somewhere!" she said.

Her mamma sighed and thought with regret of the good old days when girls did not come back at their parents with elderly bon mots.

Her wedding trousseau had been sent to Pittsburgh, but three weeks ago she met a soldier boy in Oakland and she gave up the Pittsburgh lover and her wedding trousseau for the gallant boy in khaki.

A Perplexed Celestial.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] There is a young Chinaman in town who is studying medicine, and the stories he has to tell about his experiences are often well worth hearing.

During the heated days of last August he came home one afternoon looking decidedly disgusted. "These American girls—they are so funny," he said with a despairing little gesture. "One came to me this morning. She had a very bad sun-burned neck and shoulders, and she wanted it treated, I say, 'You get this out bathing?' She say, 'No—I get it wearing lace yoke.' I turn away. She say, 'What you prescribe?' I say, 'Cloth yoke,' and go away from her. She looked offended, but I do not see why. What else could I say? But these American girls are very foolish," and the clever young Celestial shook his head in despair of ever understanding the vagaries of girls who criticised pinched feet and went around with their shoulders practically bare.

[Judge:] "Curious, isn't it?"

"What?"

"A man's handwriting is never so bad that his name can't be read when signed to a check."

Little-known Tobaccos.

[United States Tobacco Journal:] Among the little-known tobaccos of the world are those of Manchuria and Mt. Lebanon. Manchuria tobacco is said to be highly prized throughout China, while the local consumption is enormous. Travelers say that the inhabitants of Manchuria, both men and women, begin to smoke from the age of 3 or 4, and continue the practice to the end of their lives.

The tobacco of Mt. Lebanon is that which finds most favor among devout Arabs. Travelers in that part of the world describe it as being exceedingly mild and fragrant. The dealers who follow the hajj to Mecca and Medina always supply themselves abundantly with Lebanon tobacco before starting out, and no booty is so welcome to the Bedouin robbers of the desert as a cargo of this weed.

It is announced at London that the Earl of Dudley, who is the owner of extensive iron works, has purchased the English rights of the American (Bertrand Thiel) open-hearth steel process.

...merit confidence at the hands of his party. The Journal concedes that he is highly esteemed. He was elected regularly by the Democracy of his State. He is spoken of as a candidate for Governor. He is loyally at work for his party. What is the matter, then?

He is a banker, a plutocrat. He must be pulled down. His loyalty, his hard work, his high character count for nothing. He is a plutocrat and must be hunted out of the party.

It is a logical outcome of Bryanism. The party spirit as inspired by Bryan is against every man who has anything. To be rich is prima facie evidence of being dishonest. To have anything is sufficient testimony that the possessor is a thief.

It is an extraordinary condition to come to pass in America, but it has come to pass. It is a sign of a spirit whose ultimate aim is blank anarchism. It is a most dangerous symptom of grave unhealthfulness in the body politic. It is a spirit that calls for the earnest effort of every honest and thoughtful voter to eliminate it from the politics of the country. It is a marvelous thing if the voters do not give this spirit its quietus on November 6.

NOT THE SLIGHTEST DANGER.

MR. BRYAN said at Washington, Ky., Saturday that the government cannot be converted into an empire unless the people want an empire. That's the first sensible thing he has said on the subject of imperialism. That is true, and it is the complete answer to all else that he has said on the subject. It is not necessary for Mr. Bryan to protect the people of this country against themselves. There is not the slightest danger that they will ever want empire and he is authority for the proposition that there will be no empire till they want it. Then what is he fretting about—unless it's votes?—[Minneapolis Journal.

NOT COWARDICE, BUT IMBECILITY.

THE southern reasoning, as exemplified by the Times of Richmond, is so far apart from common sense that it belongs to some other sphere than this, and better befits the topsy-turvy world described in "Alice in Wonderland." Here is an example of it:

"A voter, particularly a southern voter, may vote for Bryan, at the same time hoping that Bryan will not be elected, and yet not be amenable to the charge of 'moral cowardice' or the lack of a 'civic conscience.' There are two great political parties in this country, and a man may believe that it is best for the business interests of the country that there should be no change this year in the administration and yet may believe that the maintenance of the great Democratic party is necessary to hold the Republican party in check and to prevent it from carrying its doctrines to extremes."

What has voting for Bryan to do with "the maintenance of the great Democratic party?" That party is in danger of going to pieces, has already gone to pieces, because of its surrender to Bryanism; but the principle for which it has existed and to which alone it owes its vitality, is not destroyed and will continue to be "the maintenance of the great Democratic party," after Bryan is defeated and destroyed. —[New York Sun.

DID BRYAN DO IT?

MISSOURI'S biggest corporation is that of the street railways of St. Louis. They were consolidated last year by a Democratic Legislature, and a Democratic Governor signed the law. Mr. Bryan can point a moral and adorn a tale by referring to this remarkable example in his trust discourse tonight.—[St. Louis Globe-Democrat of Sept. 15.

BRYAN—OLNEY—DEBS.

BRYAN is one of the Bryanites who refuses to gush over Olney. He remembers when Olney and Cleveland suppressed Debs when Debs attempted to establish Bryanarchy in Illinois. Debs this year is against his friend Bryan, but the latter's heart still beats true to the riot end of his platform as well as to the bass money end. Olney's work in outtopping Debs and Altgeld was the unpardonable sin in the eyes of the orthodox Bryanite. Bryan will not make any reference in his speech in St. Louis to the great accession which the anarchist combination has received in the flop of the anti-anarchist Olney.—[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HOW ABOUT MISSOURI?

REPUBLICANS are either putting Missouri in the doubtful column or claiming it for their party. The State is surely doubtful.

In 1896 the total vote of the State was 668,580, of which Bryan received 363,653 and McKinley 304,940. The Teller-Pop. majority was 58,713. A change of 29,357 would give the State to the Republicans, not counting the increase in the vote possible after four years. A change of one vote in twenty-four is all that is necessary.

Flory, the Republican candidate for Governor, is a man of great popularity. He is a railroad man who has risen from the very foot of the ladder. He was elected Railroad Commissioner at the last election in the State.

The Republican battle is being led by such Democrats as James L. Blair, son of Frank S. Blair, who was running mate with Gov. Seymour of New York in the Presidential election of 1868, and Henry D. Dalton, who was Collector of the Port of St. Louis under Cleveland. Besides these, there are a host of other very able Democrats out in the open working for Republican success.

SENSE AND NONSENSE.

THE statesmanship of the two parties is excellently illustrated in the way they deal with the trust question. The Republican position is sense. Here they are:

REPUBLICAN SENSE.

We recognize the necessity and propriety of the fullest operation of capital to meet new business conditions, and especially to extend our trade with other countries, but we condemn all combinations of capital, organized in trusts or otherwise, to control production, to limit product, to fix prices, or to create monopolies to the detriment of manufacturer, producer or consumer, and favor such legislation as will effectively prevent the execution of all such purposes; and we especially denounce the trust or combination of oil producers which has been fostered by the Democratic party, and we favor its prosecution and dissolution.—[Republican National Platform.

BRYAN NONSENSE.

All trusts are bad. They should all be destroyed.

ENEMY OF BRYAN IN CAMP.

THE New York Journal, owned by young Mr. Hearst, inheritor of millions, under the head line, "An Enemy of Bryan in Bryan's Camp," demands that E. C. F. Young, chairman of the Democratic State Committee of New Jersey, be forced to resign. What has Mr. Young done? Nothing to merit such treatment: everything to

...presely stipulated that in the event of the election of William J. Bryan the agreement shall be void and the deal will be called off. If, however, McKinley is elected the deal is to go through as quickly as possible.

All of which means this one thing: The business world is afraid of Bryan; it knows that if he is elected and his free-coinage ideas are carried into effect the security of investments will be menaced, property values will be cut in half, and the country will be plunged into a season of panic and disaster. Here is proof of it in this Baltimore transaction. The investors of $11,000,000 demand security. It is furnished in ample quantity, save as it hinges upon the result of the election. To make themselves safe—to have a chance to protect their money—the prospective investors will carry through the deal only in the event of McKinley's reelection. This is but one incident, but it proves that the issue of imperialism is a sham. When the business community stands in fear and trembling—afraid to move until the election is over—those issues which cause this partial paralysis become paramount by their own force. It is the danger of silver which now frightens the business world, which, almost to a man, proposes to aid in defeating Bryan.—[Baltimore American.

THE YOUNG MAN ABSALOM.

NO WONDER Bryan takes an interest in Absalom. That young man, according to the testimony of Holy Writ, was a rebel. Aguinaldo and Absalom, Bryan's ideals!

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—IN THE OFFICES AND COURTS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Council will be asked to adopt a new curfew ordinance. The Chief of Police has submitted a draft of the proposed measure which provides that parents and guardians shall be held responsible for the presence of children on the streets at night.

The Board of Police Commissioners yesterday again elected the ten new policemen, recently named by that body before the ordinance authorizing the appointments had become a law.

The County Clerk has completed the official count of the registered voters of the county by precincts.

Judge Trask, in overruling a certain demurrer yesterday, upheld the validity of the public improvement bonds of Redondo.

The writ of mandate prayed for by the Alcatraz Asphalt Paving Company against City Superintendent Drain has been denied.

A commission to take the deposition of Mrs. Louise N. Creede in Mississippi has issued for testimony in support of her motion against the Creede estate for family allowance.

W. R. Kingman explained to the Police Court yesterday how he came to carry a concealed weapon. George Bellamy was arraigned for failure to provide for his family.

[AT THE CITY HALL.]

NEW CURFEW ORDINANCE.

Adoption of More Effective Law Recommended—Police Again Elected.

With a view to securing a law which will protect children, especially young girls, from the temptations which are always before them on the streets at night, Chief of Police Elton yesterday submitted to the Board of Police Commissioners the draft of a new curfew ordinance and recommended that it be sent to the City Council for adoption. The Chief explained that although there is at present a curfew law it is so defective that it cannot be enforced to the extent of giving the protection to those in need of it. The board unanimously approved the proposed ordinance, and it was ordered sent to the City Council with the recommendation that it be at once adopted.

The weak feature of the present law is that while it makes it unlawful for children to be on the streets alone after a certain hour at night, there is no way of punishing their parents or guardians for allowing them to be out. If the law is enforced it is the child which must be punished, and it has been found that this does not bring about the results desired.

The ordinance which the Chief of Police desires to have adopted makes the parent or guardian of a child the responsible person, to be punished for the violation of the law. In the first section of the proposed ordinance it is provided that it shall be unlawful for any child actually or apparently under the age of 17 years to loiter, wander or prowl about the streets, avenues, alleys or public parks after the hour of 9 o'clock p.m., unless accompanied by parent or an adult guardian. By the terms of the second section of the ordinance it is made unlawful for any parent, guardian or other person having legal care and custody of any child under the age of 17 years, to allow or permit such child or ward to go or be in or upon the streets after 9 p.m. The third section defines the duties of police officers and provides the penalty for violation of the ordinance. It follows:

"Any policeman, constable or peace officer is hereby authorized to arrest any such minor violating any of the provisions of section 1 of this ordinance, and for the first violation to take such child to his or her home and notify his or her parents or guardian of such violation and penalty; and again arrested for any subsequent violation of the provisions of this ordinance, said parent or guardian shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $25, and if such minor cannot be controlled, he or she shall be placed in some reformatory institution of this State."

APPOINTED AGAIN.

Some time ago the City Council passed an ordinance authorizing the appointment of ten additional policemen. The Board of Police Commissioners was in such a hurry to take advantage of this opportunity to dispense patronage that it appointed the ten men before the Mayor had approved the ordinance. When it was pointed out to them that their appointments were not legal, the board had the minutes of a previous session amended so as to provide that the appointments would not take effect until after the ordinance became a law. This, however, did not remedy the matter. The Chief of Police consulted the City Attorney and was informed that appointments would have to be made over again to be legal. Yesterday, therefore, the board did it all over again and appointed the same men previously named. They will be full-fledged policemen as soon as they qualify in the office of the City Clerk.

WHAT WILL THEY DO?

It had been expected that at yesterday's session of the Board of Police Commissioners some action would be taken regarding the license for a saloon on the north side of First street between Main and Spring. A license was granted some time ago for this place, but in doing so the board did not follow its own rules with reference to requiring the applicant to secure the consent of two-thirds of the owners of property frontage on that block. There was a protest from some of these property owners, who took the position that there are a sufficient number of saloons in that block. The board then reconsidered its action and has resisted all pressure to grant the license. The matter is in the hands of a committee of the whole and political and other influence has been brought to bear to have the license granted. There was a short private discussion yesterday by members of the board, but although the representatives of the applicant, the Los Angeles Brewing Company, and the protestants were in attendance, the subject was not taken up at the open session of the board. At least two of the Commissioners do not know what they will do, and two others want the license granted, while the fifth member has not expressed himself. The license was originally granted as a compromise of the trouble which grew out of the financial difficulties of the now defunct Palace Restaurant Company.

LICENSE MATTERS.

W. B. Morrisey was granted a transfer of the saloon license of H. J. Kearney at No. 1713 East Seventh street. It was at this place the sale of liquor to a child caused the arrest and conviction of one Anderson, who is said to have been only a porter there. The place therefore came under the rule of the board which provides that the license of any saloon where any such violation of the law is committed shall be suspended, and if this rule were strictly enforced there could have been no transfer of the license. Commissioner Ling stated that Police Justice Austin had told him that the defendant was only technically guilty, and had asked him not to enforce the rule in this instance, as by so doing an injustice would be done the owner of the saloon. Morrisey was present and was asked the usual questions as to whether he intended to obey the laws, keep an orderly place, close the saloon on Sundays, etc., etc. He promised to be good, and was given the license.

A restaurant liquor license was granted to District Agricultural Association, No. 4, for the month of October. The purpose of this license is to provide liquid refreshments to those who attend the races next week. A saloon license could not be granted for Agricultural Park under the law, and the association had to take the next best thing.

Dan Pitsel applied for a transfer of the saloon license of Siglis & Kristovich at No. 901 East First street. The application was referred to the Chief. Similar action was taken on the application of H. J. Carpenter and Charles M. Ellis for a transfer of the license of Robert Kern at No. 125 South Spring street, adjoining the Los Angeles Theater.

AFTER THEIR COIN.

WOES OF CANDIDATES.

Arduous as was the work of some of the city candidates before the recent convention to secure their nomination, they have harder work before them, not the effort to secure votes, but that of keeping beyond the reach of job hunters, ward workers and "friends" who for "a little money to spend with the boys" will "do the best they can." The candidates on the county ticket can escape the attack of these political leeches; but the city candidates, especially those who desire reflection, are more easier to find. They are obliged to come to the City Hall at certain times each week, and all that a "bleeder" has to do is to camp there and he will ultimately be able to catch most of them.

The encampment of this class has already begun, and although the city campaign has not opened, they are moving early upon what they consider their legitimate prey. The hallways of the city building are now lined with them, and they may be seen flitting about from one office to another. Some of them candidly admit that the reason for their early activity is a belief in the principle of the "early bird," and they want to "catch the worm" before some other member of their clan has made the capture.

The man who simply calls to congratulate a candidate is welcome enough; but when the caller blandly remarks that he will call again, and may have "some little thing" to ask the candidate knows what is coming at the next visit. The man who comes in and brazenly requests a "loan" of a few dollars has not developed as yet in this campaign, but he is certain to appear.

Next to him, the man most to be dreaded is the "editor" of a new "newspaper" who wants the candidate's card at prices ranging from four bits to as large a sum as the "editur" thinks the candidate will stand. There are always a score or more of new publications which appear only during campaigns, and the purpose of their existence is "to help the party" and incidentally to help the "editur." The card fiend is another of the kind dreaded by candidates, and every owner of a case of type and a small hand press enters the race with his fellows for the "honor" and the profit there is in serving this or that candidate by supplying him with cards for campaign purposes.

The work of these bleeders has only begun, but if the extent of their work can be gauged by the number who have appeared, the lot of a candidate this fall will not be a happy one.

"I could stand their work on the streets or in my office," said a candidate for Councilman yesterday, "but they do not stop there. They invade a man's house and bother his family. Why, when I went home to lunch today I found three of the vampires sitting on my steps waiting for me. They woke me up at night, and if I am not at home they try to get my wife to promise that I will accede to their demand. For one, I am in favor of forming a candidates' protective association, making each candidate give bond that he will turn down the advances of these fellows."

RISING AMONG THE KURDS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 13.—The tribal visings among the Kurds are assuming threatening proportions. The authorities are greatly concerned. The troops have had to intervene in the Diarbekir district, where a number of Christian and Mussulman villages have been razed.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY'S VOTE.

Official Count of the Registered Electors in Each of the Many Precincts.

County Clerk Bell, after an immense amount of clerical work, has just completed the official count of the number of registered voters in each of the precincts of Los Angeles county. The figures given below show the number of electors who are entitled to a ballot at the coming Presidential election. No allowance is to be made for transfers; these have all been posted to their proper precincts, and the time is past when transfers can be obtained.

The total registration for the county is 63,190. That of the city is 17,426.

The vote of each precinct may be ascertained from the following tables:

DRAIN WINS.

NORTH MAIN'S PAVING DELAYED.

Judge Trask handed down a ruling yesterday in the mandamus suit begun by the Alcatraz Asphalt Paving Company against City Superintendent John H. Drain to compel him to sign a contract with plaintiff for the paving of North Main street from First to Marchessault streets.

The court rules with the Street Superintendent and denies the paving company's petition.

Drain contended that he was unable to sign the contract owing to a protest that had been filed against the improvement work, whereas the Alcatraz people alleged that a required number of protestants had petitioned to withdraw their signatures from the protest. On examining the records Judge Trask found that the protestants who had asked to withdraw had merely made an offer to that effect, but had not really done so.

North Main street must remain a cobblestone road for a while longer.

WIDOW CREEDE WINS.

HER DEPOSITION TO BE TAKEN.

Another turn was taken yesterday in the much-litigated estate of the millionaire suicide, N. C. Creede, when Superior Judge Shaw ordered a commission to issue for the taking of a deposition of Mrs. Louisa N. Creede, surviving widow, who is now living in Mississippi. This deposition is being taken at the instance of Mrs. Creede's attorney, Frank Finlayson, Esq., to support her motion long pending in the courts for a family allowance of $300 a month and the use of the Creede residence in this city.

Formal objections to the motion to take the deposition were filed by John T. Jones, special administrator of the estate; Dorothy Creede, adopted daughter of the deceased, and the other heirs. Gov. Gage appears in the matter as one of the counsel for the special administrator. The objections were on the grounds that there was no action pending on behalf of Mrs. Creede in which her testimony might be taken under the laws of California, and that she has no interest whatever in the estate by reason of a final cash settlement with her husband prior to his death, whereby she is alleged to have abandoned all claim upon his estate.

These objections were over-ruled.

HAPPY CITIZENS.

REDONDO'S BONDS VALID.

Redondo people will have reason to rejoice in a ruling just made by Judge Trask, wherein he upholds the validity of their recent $40,000 issue of public improvement bonds.

This point was settled by the court's over-ruling a demurrer in the mandamus suit of a friendly nature begun by William Usrey, a taxpayer, against George Cate, treasurer of the city of Redondo, who, to test the legality of the bonds, refused to sign them on the ground that the law did not provide for the issuance of bonds for the class of work named therein.

The merits of the case were gone into on demurrer, which were over-ruled.

Judge Trask's position is contrary to that of several prominent attorneys of this city, who passed adversely on the bonds, and whose opinion was the cause of the test suit.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR FORECLOSURE. S. W. Garretson has begun suit against Thomas E. Beatty, Jane M. Beatty and Mrs. Adelia M. Ball to foreclose a $3600 mortgage, executed on February 11, 1897.

DEPRAVED PICKANINNY. Frankie Rayford, a twelve-year-old colored boy with a penchant for stealing pigeons, torturing chickens and disemboweling Belgian hares, was ordered committed to Whittier by Judge York yesterday. The youth's school teacher told the court he was her most immoral pupil, and that he had to be watched constantly.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSED. W. H. Taylor was given judgment yesterday for $1826.88 and $157 costs and attorney's fees against Sarah M. Oliver and others in Judge York's department of the Superior Court.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION. A temporary injunction was granted by Judge York yesterday on plaint of Augusta Nil to enjoin M. S. Cummings, a street contractor, from doing certain street work in front of Nil's property on Lyons street. The merits of the case will be considered on Friday.

ROBBERY TRIAL SET. The trial of James Hefner, charged with robbing an old soldier, named William Evinton, on September 14, was set by Judge Smith yesterday for December 6.

COXE MUST ANSWER. John H. Coxe, the real estate and insurance man, charged with embezzling $300, was held to answer by Justice James yesterday under bonds in $1500.

THE CRUEL MAN. Elizabeth Mackey was granted a divorce from William E. Mackey by Judge Fitzgerald yesterday, on the ground of cruelty.

CLERICAL ERROR. The License Collector has notified E. Leventhal, who recently took out a wholesale liquor license to do business just outside of the municipal limits of Pomona on the way to Chino, to return this license because it was issued through an inadvertence. One of Leventhal's employés had just been convicted of selling liquor at Pomona without a retail license. Thereupon Leventhal took out a wholesale license, which was granted to him without the approval of the Board of Supervisors through the ignorance of a clerk, who was not acquainted with the provisos of the new license ordinance. Under the old ordinance the Supervisors did not approve wholesale licenses; now they approve both wholesale and retail.

OHIO TRAMP ACT.

COLUMBUS (O.) Oct. 14.—The Ohio Supreme Court today held the Ohio tramp act to be constitutional. A man found begging outside his home county and refusing to work is liable to from one to three years' imprisonment.

[POLICE AND JUSTICE COURTS.]

WINE AND MEDICINE.

Caused Kingman to Carry a Concealed Weapon—Other Petty Offenders.

In the Police Court yesterday W. R. Kingman pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Kingman was arrested Monday night on the strength of a report that he was drunk and had been threatening to shoot his wife. He was undoubtedly under the influence of wine when taken into custody, and a loaded revolver was found in his pocket, but he disclaimed all interest of trying to do violence to any one with the weapon. He was released on $20 cash bail after spending the night in jail. When arraigned in court he explained his condition by stating that he has been taking medicine to prepare his system for a painful surgical operation which he is to undergo in a few days. On Monday evening he took a dose of the medicine in conjunction with some port wine, to make the drug more palatable, and the mixture affected his brain so that he did not know what he was doing. In his delirium he picked up a revolver belonging to his wife, but he did not attempt to use it. He had no extraordinary object in view when he pocketed the weapon and went on the street. In fact he did not make a practice of carrying a revolver. Justice Morgan, after hearing Kingman's explanation, ordered him to appear for sentence at 1:30 o'clock today.

OTHER OFFENDERS.

Ed Myers was given a sentence of $10 or 10 days for disturbing the peace by fighting with another youth who escaped from the arresting officer and has not since been recaptured. The "scrap" occurred over a game of pool in a First-street resort. The two disputants adjourned to an alley to fight it out, when a minion of the law descended upon them and placed both under arrest. Myer's antagonist, however, gave the officer the slip before the patrol wagon arrived to take the prisoners to the station.

Lottie England, a hyena fiend, was released on her own recognizance to appear today for sentence for vagrancy, being admonished meanwhile to get back to the residence of her sister at Compton. Lottie was given a sentence of 180 days last December for stealing a pair of shoes.

George Bellamy, colored, pleaded not guilty to the charge of failure to provide for his wife and children, and had his trial set for October 15 at 9:30 o'clock. This is not the first time Bellamy has been charged with shirking his family obligations. He alleges, however, that he gives his wife money whenever he has any to give.

The trial of Dr. W. A. Dunton on the charge of failing to provide for his family was continued till November 2. Dunton has commenced divorce proceedings and the outcome of the divorce case may result in the dismissal of the misdemeanor complaint that has been lodged against him.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

Mrs. J. J. Fay, Jr., and her daughter, Miss Anna Fay, entertained yesterday afternoon with a delightful card party, given at their home on the corner of Grand avenue and Adams street. The drawing-room, den and dining-room were exquisitely decorated with red carnations, ferns and palms, and the library was ornamented with great fluffy white chrysanthemums and green foliage. The guests were entertained with progressive hearts, and the scores were marked by small heart-shaped bonbons dropped into heart-shaped red silk bags, which were tied with satin ribbons. Mrs. Albert Crutcher captured first prize, a handsome Holland vase; Mrs. Richard Mercer received a second, a cut-glass bonbon dish. Those assisting in receiving and entertaining out for a prize, a bronze figure on onyx, which was awarded Miss Gertrude Mason. Others assisting were Mmes. Howard Bundrem, W. A. Barker, John T. Jones; Misses Louise Burke, Elise Bonsall, Ines Clark, Alice Groff, Nellie Clark. Those invited were: Mmes. J. F. Conroy, J. Ross Clarke, S. F. C. Klokke, William Hook, Nathan W. Stockwell, Adolphus Fiske, William T. Lewis, Charles Prager, Rufus H. Herpen, John A. Fairchild, Nathaniel W. Myrick, William H. Bonsall, Richard Mercer, Charles Forman, William Kerckhoff, John E. Dr. and Mrs. Will H. Smith entertained the members of the Star Whist Club yesterday evening at their home on Winfield street. The guests were entertained with whist and high five, and prizes were awarded. At the conclusion of the games refreshments were served. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheelan, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Godin, Mr. and Mrs. George Rice, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Stevens, Mrs. J. A. Osgood, Mrs. Matthew Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Rice will entertain the club at its next regular meeting, two weeks from last night.

Announcement is made of the marriage on October 8 of Leon E. Lampton of this city and Miss Gertrude Laraway, at the house of the bride's mother, Mrs. Harriet A. Laraway, in Grand Rapids, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Lampton will visit the former's old home in Missouri and several places of interest in the West before returning to Los Angeles, where they will make their future home.

Miss Ruth Binder of South Hope street entertained a party of young people last Friday evening with progressive games and dancing. The parlors were decorated with cosmos, chrysanthemums and roses of smilax. The gentlemen's first prize was won by F. Deane Civille, the ladies' first being won by Miss Miriam Cook. The consolations were awarded to Miss Rose Germain and Mr. McMillan. Those present were Misses Miriam Cook, Helen Cole, Bertha Jones, Rose Germain, Edna Edwards, Ethel Walker, Marine Graves, Edith Osborne, Gertrude Coates, Josie Mann, Minnie Keith, Hattie Cole, Hally Cole, Mable Adams, Jennie Mullens; Messrs. G. Jacoby, C. B. Osborne, R. Osborne, Civille, McMillan, Brosseau, Hastings, Rodner, Lazarus.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Mrs. Secundo Guasti will leave tonight for San Francisco on an absence of several weeks.

Miss Bernice Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Tyler of South Olive street, will be married today to William P. Dunlap of Waukesha, Wis.

The members of the Solid Six have issued invitations for a dancing party at Kramer's Hall on the evening of November 2.

The opening reception and dance of the season will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Kramer this evening at their hall on South Grand avenue.

Miss Georgia May Holman and Rev. Robert L. Fisher will be married this evening in the University M. E. Church.

Mrs. A. J. Stimson, who has been traveling in Europe for the past two years, returned to Los Angeles Monday, and is occupying her handsome home on South Figueroa street.

Mrs. W. S. Clark will give a children's party Thursday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock at her home, No. 1068 West Thirtieth street.

Mrs. Jennie E. Mesmer and daughter, Mrs. C. E. Patterson, will remain another month at Santa Monica, No. 255 Ocean avenue.

Harry Siegel and family, who have spent the past four winters in Altadena, are now residing at No. 717 Westlake avenue. Mrs. Siegel will receive the first and third Fridays.

Miss Della Clemons has returned from Redondo, and will be pleased to see her friends at No. 2200 Thompson street.

Wifehood as the Test of Womanhood.

The Good Woman Who Makes a Bad Wife.

Marriage was a serious thing to the grandparents and great grandparents of the present generation. No woman entered lightly upon wedlock. She knew that she was going to found a family, and that she must be equal to all the responsibilities of the position she assumed. She must be able to order her own household; to knit, sew, spin, make bread, butter, soap, candles, and indeed care for and clothe a whole family. She must not be craven when the whoop of the Indian warned of a dreadful danger. She must stand by her husband, gun in hand.

How many women of to-day could undertake wifehood under such conditions? Few indeed. Not because the modern American woman lacks courage, but because she lacks as a rule the physical health which is the indispensable qualification for a life such as was lived by the women of the past.

That is why a good woman may be a bad wife. Virtue and goodness are excellent things in women, but to guide a house and bear children demands above all sound physical health.

WOMEN CONVICTS.

To a great number of women the home they live in is almost on a par with a prison. It is prison-like in the monotonous regularity of daily duties; prison-like in the absence of all pleasure in what is done or joy in the doing. And the reason is to be found in womanly ill-health. Few women realize how intimately the general health is related to the health of the delicate womanly organs. A woman may suffer with heart "trouble," disorders of kidneys, liver or stomach, or with nervous prostration as a result of a diseased condition of the womanly organism. Many such women "doctor" for years for various diseases and wonder why they don't get better. They can't get better until the womanly organism is entirely cured of its disease.

This is not theory. It is a statement of simple facts founded upon the testimony of hundreds of thousands of women who have been cured of womanly disease by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. They had been just "dragging around" for years, with throbbing heads and aching backs, nervous, dyspeptic, miserable. The once fresh colored cheeks had grown sallow, the eyes were dull, the body had lost its plumpness. LAUNCHING OF THE BATTLESHIP OHIO.

On the 19th of May, 1899, the first rivet was driven in the keel of the Ohio at the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, and she is now nearing completion. When launched the Ohio will be more formidable than any war vessel now flying the American flag. Less than two years ago the national heart palpitated with pride in consequence of the splendid performance of the Oregon in making her voyage of 13,000 miles around Cape Horn. In the subsequent destruction of Admiral Cervera's fleet off Santiago, the Oregon earned the plaudits of every patriotic American, and with one accord, was affectionately dubbed "The Bulldog of the American Navy." It needs but a glance at the following table of comparative figures to discover that the Oregon will be eclipsed by the Ohio:

	Oregon.	Ohio.
Length	348 feet	388 feet
Breadth	69 feet, 1 inches	72 feet, 3 inches
Draft	24 feet	23 feet, 6 inches
Displacement	10,288 tons	12,500 tons
Contract speed	15 knots	18 knots

It is needless to state that Ohioans in California will be expected to attend the christening and arrange a suitable celebration. For the honor of the State of our adoption, as well as of our native State, it is to be hoped that there will be no lack of interest necessary to make the launching of the Ohio an event memorable in the annals of naval christening. Ten years ago, according to the United States census, there were 23,949 natives of Ohio in California, and a conservative estimate places the number today at 40,000. Throughout the State, from Siskiyou to San Diego, Buckeyes are plentiful, and wherever found they are known and respected as intelligent, energetic and useful members of society.

The Ohio Society of California, with headquarters at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, proposes to make the occasion of the launching a jubilee, and invites the hearty cooperation of all native Ohioans and all former residents of the Buckeye State.

A meeting will be held this (Wednesday) evening at 8 o'clock, at the parlors of the Masonic Temple, No. 127 South Hill street, in this city, to which all Ohioans are cordially invited. This meeting is called by the secretary of the NEWS, in a recent issue, calls attention to the fact as follows:

"Hardly a day passes but one or more workmen from Pennsylvania and Ohio arrive in town, and until recently they have experienced but little difficulty in securing positions. Five drillers and tool dressers arrived from McDonald, Pa., last week. At the present time there are but few if any vacancies in the field, as most of the developing is being done by established companies which are also producers. The companies that are operating on the outskirts of the established field have not yet demonstrated that the producing area extends under their derricks, but should one of them make a good strike there will be a branching out of the business that will give it an additional boom."

The first well of the Standard Crude in La Habra Cañon has now reached a depth of 400 feet. Large casing is being used and for that reason the hole goes down slowly.

Work was begun yesterday by the Uncle John Oil Company. A complete outfit was shipped out by the Union Hardware and Metal Company of this city last week.

The latest report is that the Central Oil Company now has six strings of tools at work in various parts of the field.

In order to obtain better results from its new well, the Whittier Consolidated Company is pulling the casing, will ream, and then go deeper.

The new 1200-barrel tank of the Whittier Crude Oil Company is still in the process of construction.

Saturday of last week the drill in the El Moro well passed through a stratum of oil sand and the outlook is now encouraging. It is reported the drill has made a depth of 875 feet.

Water is still in possession of the East Whittier Oil Company's well, in spite of all efforts to shut off the flow.

The third well of the Fidelity company is 350 feet deep. An increased flow of oil is reported from No. 1, as the result of deepening.

Well No. 2 of the Warner company continues to produce a steady flow. No. 3 has reached a depth of 437 feet, and like others in that part of the field, is making a good showing.

A rig for well No. 5 of the Turner company is about completed.

HERE AND THERE.

RAMONA COMPANY'S LUCK.

The Ramona Oil Company, operating near the western boundary of Ventura county, experienced hard luck with its first well, which at a depth of 500 feet encountered a boulder, beyond which point it was found impossible to proceed. Nothing daunted, the company started a new hole about fifteen feet from the first well, and has been working a night and day shift on it, with the result that they are already down over 350 feet in two weeks. They are using 14-inch casing. There is gas in the well, also a trace of oil. In the first hole there is 350 feet of water, which is found very useful in boring. The directors of the company are hopeful that they will soon be able to announce a good strike of oil.

The El Dorado's big well in the McKittrick district continues to flow at a good rate. The casing is firmly landed in a bed of clay.

The hole drilled by Spellacy & McCoy in the same part of the field, contains 875 feet of oil sand. This is said to be the record for that district.

Another find has been made in the Devil's Den country. It is reported that the Western Development Company found oil in its well Saturday.

Everything is in shape for the Empire company to begin work. It has secured 1630 acres in the Sunset field.

AROUND FULLERTON.

The Menges Oil Company, operating in the mouth of Brea Cañon, has its last well at 220 feet.

In the neighborhood of Fullerton there are several fields where drilling is now in progress. Seven miles north the Santa Fé wells are now producing considerable oil. There are eighteen companies at work. Six miles northeast the Puente fields are found. Here drilling has been carried on for nearly sixteen years.

KERN RIVER FIELD.

CLIMAX WELL FLOWING.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] The Shasta Company, which was engaged for months in drilling a well on 14, 28, 27, that afterward was ruined and converted into a water well, has purchased a new rig, and will begin sinking another tomorrow. The hole will be fourteen inches in diameter to start with, and the depth expected to be attained is 1500 feet. From the data obtained in wells to the southwest, it seems probable that if oil exists at all where the Shasta is located, it lies at that distance below the surface.

The undulating character of the Kern River district is illustrated by the experience of the Globe company in section 30, where a short distance from No. 3 oil was found at a depth at which the first well drilled was still in the clay. The formation of the field is level generally, but frequently slight distances make a material difference in the depth at which the sand is struck.

The Globe has received a fifteen-horse-power portable hoisting outfit, the first of its kind in the field.

The Climax company's fourth well at Tembior is flowing at the rate of thirty barrels a day, and pumps about eight times as much. A large quantity of water accompanies the oil, which is drawn off after being raised to the surface. A peculiarity noticed is that the oil stratum and the water stratum lie together, without so much as an inch of clay separating them. In other words, the oil floats on a vast body of water. Superintendent Singletary thinks that he will be able in the next well to get oil without water by not drilling so deep into the sand. The Oil Center, also operating at Tembior, met with difficulties immediately after hitting the sand, and has been tied up for several days.

The report comes here that the Sunset railroad will be commenced within thirty days. No doubt has ever been entertained of its ultimately being built.

The Grace No. 4, which began flowing a week ago, continues to discharge oil in the amount of about thirty barrels per day. The Grace's pumps are now still, owing to a shortage of supply tanks.

With only 150 feet of its casing perforated, the Peerless is pumping 125 barrels. The sand in this well exceeds 400 feet in thickness.

Having drilled through the first and second sands, the Lion of Arizona, drilling at Sunset, is going down after the third, which ought to be found at no great distance below. Providing the search is a failure, the well will be finished where it is, with a capacity of some twenty barrels.

Out in the Cottonwood country, a dozen miles from known oil, the Federal company is drilling away with one of the best rigs ever brought to the county. This brave attempt to get the oil is watched with interest, as its success would mean encouragement to all the owners on the south side of the river. The striking of petroleum where the Federal is working would open up a vast territory always suspected of carrying oil, since the first discovery by Elwood on the north bank of Kern River.

A supply company has been organized to furnish material for the Tehachepi fields at Sand Cañon, where active developments are a matter of the near future.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Los Angeles Ebell.

The French section of the Ebell Society held its second meeting from 10 to 11 yesterday morning, Mrs. S. E. Page, curator, presiding. The lesson consisted of conversation on "le bateau a vapeur." About eighteen members were present.

The debating section met at 11 a.m. and after a lesson in parliamentary law, under the guidance of Mrs. A. L. Brown, the curator of the section, discussed briefly the resolution: "Resolved, that cheap literature is a boon to mankind."

Wednesday Morning Club.

The current events class of the Wednesday Morning Club held its first meeting of the year Monday afternoon at the assembly hall of the East Los Angeles Congregational Church. Mrs. R. J. Adcock gave an outline of the work that is being done by the freeholders in framing the new city charter. Mrs. Frank Prior presented an interesting paper on the commerce, manufactures and beauty of the city of Washington. Mrs. J. N. Phillips gave an excellent talk on the Empress Dowager of China. Other subjects discussed by the class were the city lighting, the cargo of tea now being unloaded at San Diego, the under-water railway between New York and Brooklyn; the launching of the Wisconsin, the strike of the miners, etc. This section of the club will meet every Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, under the leadership of Mrs. Sherman Page.

JOURNALIST FIGHTS A COUNT.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—M. Urbain Gohier, the anti-military journalist, author of the book, "The Army Against the Nation," which created a sensation in 1899, fought a duel with pistols today, his opponent being Count Le Sabran Pontevez. The duel was without result. The dispute which led to the duel was an article in the Aurore, which the Count considered offensive to him. Count Boni de Castellane was one of Count De Sabran Pontevez's seconds.

WAGE-EARNERS

Testify to Prosperous Conditions.

A Wonderful Improvement is Shown.

Laboring Men of Los Angeles Compare McKinley's Times With Cleveland's.

Mr. Bryan's arguments evidently do not impress the working man at whom they are aimed, around here. Four years of good wages have turned their hearts to stone against his soft suasions. The following interviews give an idea of the way the sturdy men who work with hands look at the campaign issues. These are talks with both skilled and unskilled laborers.

PLUMBERS SCARCE.

John Crimmins, plumber, said to a Times reporter: "Four years ago, when McKinley became President, there were lots of plumbers in such straits for work that they were ready to do almost anything. Skilled workmen were eager to get work as common laborers, at laborer's wages. Many of them failed to find employment even then. Under the present conditions it is very hard for master plumbers to find workmen. Practically, there are no men looking for work. Everybody seems to have employment, and skilled men are very scarce. I attribute this to the faith that builders have in the administration. There are more investments being made. There is more building going on. Consequently, there is more work, and because of there being lots of work there are better wages."

TWENTY A MONTH MORE.

James Miller, gardener: "Under the McKinley administration I am making $20 a month more than under the previous Democratic administration. Naturally I a not anxious to go back."

MORE WORK, BETTER PAY.

John W. Varney, teamster: "McKinley brought the working men more work, better wages and more money. There are very few out of employment in these days. I never remember so prosperous an election year. Don't you know, we usually have a hard year just before election, and another just after? I dont want to return to Democratic rule. During the last Cleveland administration, I know, from personal experience, that the farmers had to pay their debts, as far as they could, in grain and cattle. They had no money. At times, during that administration, it was almost impossible for the working men to get along. I have seen many a man with a family to support, working for $0 cents a day while Cleveland was in office

HE REMEMBERS.

Charles Whitmore, laborer: "I am an old man, and I know that Democratic rule has always brought hard times and misery to this country. I remember how under the Cleveland administration, cities had to devise public works in order that hundreds of men might have employment and keep from starving to death. I remember how they had to give free soup away to the workingmen, and to the destitute, who were destitute. I remember how, when Maj. McKinley was elected, the good times came back. I was in Kansas City, in the early part of the present administration. I used to see the bosses of the packing-houses come out on the docks and yell, 'Come in, everybody.' They would wave their arms to include all the men who happened to be standing around waiting for work. It seemed as though they couldn't get men enough. I am an old soldier, and I have had a little experience with cheap money. I don't want any more cheap money."

PAINTERS ALL AT WORK.

J. W. Van Horn, painter: "I don't see what's to hinder us going back to the old hard times if Bryan is elected. Five years ago every painter used to have from half a dozen to fifteen men come to him every day begging for work. Now it is almost impossible to get painters. There are none to be had, for they are all at work. Five years ago painters used to be willing to take work at $1.50 per day. They simply had to have work at any price. Now, they get from $2.25 to $2.50 a day, and laugh at the man who offers less. Why, we haven't had a tramp come to our house for I don't know how long. There has not been more than three in two years. Five years ago there came two or three a day, asking for something to eat. I don't see why any sane man should want to return to those conditions."

GOOD TO TIE TO.

R. C. Hamlin, bicycle repairer: "Don't find many men looking for work under the administration. There are no bells at the back doors. It's a good thing to tie to."

George Rehberg, laborer and prospector: "Most assuredly this administration has been better for the working man than the one previous. I have been around here for twenty years, and have always seen better times under the Republican administrations. Always a better demand, better prices and better wages. The signal of distress has always gone up under Democratic administrations, and wages have gone down."

MEN IN DEMAND.

J. R. Blanchard, manager of Free Labor Bureau: "I have only been connected with this department a short time, but I know that there is plenty of work to be had at good wages. The number of applications for men has been steadily increasing ever since I have known anything about the bureau."

INLAND FOR GERMANY.

Kaiser's Acquisition of Urgan in the Red Sea Part of the Empire's Naval Policy.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Herald says the acquisition by Germany of the Island of Urgan, in the Red Sea, for a coaling station, is in harmony with deliberate policy of Germany. Count Von Bosiow, the German Minister of Foreign Affairs, in his budget speech indicated Germany's need of a number of points d'appui and coaling stations for the German navy. During the next few years the intention is expressed of directing Germany's aims to the acquisition of a number of such points where in time of actual hostility German war vessels would feed them most.

The friendship between Germany and Turkey has resulted in the spread of German influence in Asia Minor and other countries under the Sultan's suzerainty. A Red Sea coaling station is further an indication of the Kaiser's purpose of forming a chain of links between Europe and German possessions in the Far East.

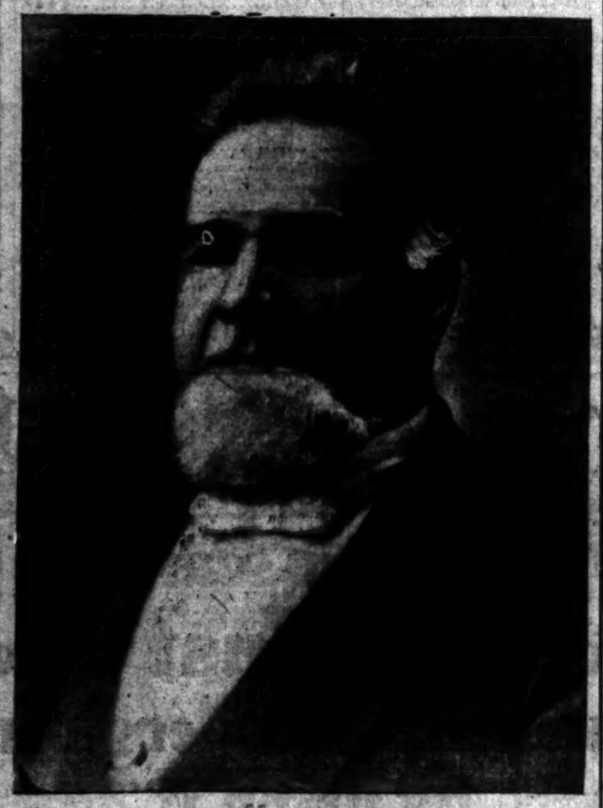
CLOSED CAREER OF COL. C. C. THOMAS.

Col. Charles Cotesworth Thomas, whose death occurred yesterday morning at his home in this city, was a native of Maryland, aged 73 years. He was a graduate of St. John College of Maryland, and immediately after leaving college he started for California, arriving here in January, 1849. While he at once took to mining, the object that undoubtedly inspired his journey across the plains, he did not cast behind him all other ambitions, and in 1853 he was elected a member of the first California Legislature from Butte county, serving contemporaneously with Judge Walter Van Dyke.

During the Civil War the father of Col. Thomas was a surgeon in the United States army, and his uncle, Francis Thomas, was the famous war Governor of Maryland (afterward Minister to Peru,) and to him was due the credit of having kept that State in the Union. When the Civil War broke out, Col. Thomas was a strong sympathizer with the South, but probably owing to the prominence of his uncle in the Union cause, and the presence of his father in the Union army, he accepted a colonel's commission in a Maryland regiment. With 700 other passengers, he sailed from San Francisco, to join his regiment, on board the Golden Gate. Off the coast of Mexico the steamer took fire and was burned, and 600 of her passengers were lost.

Col. Thomas was one of the hundred who reached land, and returned to San Francisco. It is said that he viewed the destruction of the steamer as a providential interference, surrendered his commission and again went to mining. He became one of the leading men in the opening of the Comstock mines in Nevada, having been superintendent of the Hale, Norcross, North Potosi, Overman and Uncle Sam mines. He was later made general superintendent of Senator Clark's mines at Jerome, Ariz. His only daughter is Mrs. Annie E. Bancroft of this city. The funeral, which will occur Thursday morning, will be private.

An incident of the burning of the Golden Gate was the efforts of Col. Thomas to help his friend, McMullen, save his wife and two children. They fastened Mrs. McMullen to a plank, tied the older child to its father's shoulders, and the babe to the shoulders of Col. Thomas. When all were ready they heaved the plank overboard and jumped after it, with their burdens on their shoulders. Mrs. McMullen was killed by being struck to another plank thrown from the ship; Mr. McMullen and his boy were drowned, and the people struggling in the water tore the babe from Mr. Thomas's shoulders. When he missed his burden he dove repeatedly to recover it, and finally thought he did so, and swam ashore, when he found that he had rescued another child to him entirely unknown. For a number of days he carried his little waif through the brush on the Mexican coast, and finally landed it safely with the party of survivors in San Francisco, where it later died.



COL. CHARLES C. THOMAS.

MR. GRAVES IS "HOT STUFF."

Local Democratic Leaders Give Him an Amusing Servant-Girl "Recommend."

Local Democratic leaders, after an all-day conference yesterday, issued a proclamation avowing their belief that Congressional Candidate Graves is "hot stuff," and that he has not been guilty of anything worse than the colic. They acquit him of the charge of lukewarmness in the following document:

"To the voters of the Sixth Congress District: The undersigned desire to call the attention of the unprejudiced voters of this district to the following statement of facts: William Graves, the Democratic nominee for Congress, has been prevented by serious illness from beginning his campaign work until this time. This fact has been misconstrued as an evidence of lukewarmness and even of collusion. We have fully investigated these matters and we desire hereby to declare to the voters of this district our faith in the sincerity and honesty of Mr. Graves in his candidacy for Congress, and in his behalf to pledge to the people of this district his earnest and faithful effort for the construction of a free and open harbor at San Pedro and of the Nicaragua Canal, and for the furtherance of all Democratic methods of government.

"Mr. Graves is now upon the stump, and will wage an aggressive campaign from this date until election, and we bespeak for him the earnest support, not only of all Democrats, but of all voters, of whatever party who in this crisis of our national affairs believe that the best interests of the country demand a return to the fundamental principles upon which our government was founded, and upon which the perpetuity of our liberties depends."

The bill of health issued on behalf of Candidate Graves bears the following signatures: Stephen M. White, George S. Patton, John T. Gaffey, R. F. Del Valle, Daniel Neuhart, Frederick Baker, Nathan Cole, Jr., E. H. Lamme, W. C. Petchner and N. A. Covarrubias.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

The Los Angeles Bryanites are making big preparations for the meeting in Hazard's Pavilion on Friday night. Ex-Mayor M. P. Snyder will preside, and the speakers will be Mayor James D. Phelan of San Francisco and J. C. Sims, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

A meeting is advertised for tomorrow night in Italian Hall, No. 730 Buena Vista street, in the interests of F. W. Allender, Democratic nominee for the Assembly in the Seventy-fifth District. A challenge has been issued by Allender to his Republican opponent, H. E. Carter, Esq., to meet in a "joint discussion on the vital questions of human liberty now pending." Mr. Carter has not yet seen fit to accept the peculiarly-worded challenge of the windy young aspirant.

Tonight the colored Democrats composing the Bryan and Stevenson Club will hold a mass meeting at the Silver Republican Hall, No. 128 North Spring street, for the purpose of discussing issues of the campaign. The following speakers will address the meeting: G. W. Albright, C. C. Flint, R. F. Douglas of Marysville, J. L. Edmonds and probably several other Democratic orators. Dr. D. G. Taylor will preside.

At Santa Monica tonight W. C. Graves, the Democratic candidate for Congress, will address the citizens of that city on the issues of the campaign. On Thursday night Mr. Graves will accompany E. C. Farnsworth of Visalia to Pasadena, and speak there at the Wigwam. The Democratic Congressional candidate, assisted by R. F. Del Valle, will appear at Pomona on Friday night.

PORT LIMON TIED.

Entire Business Portion of the Costa Rican City Wiped Out—Loss is Over Two Millions.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The fire which started in Port Limon, Costa Rica, Saturday, according to late dispatches received here, destroyed the entire business section of the city and caused a property loss of over $2,000,000.

Among the heaviest sufferers from the fire were the Port Limon Bank, Linde Bros., the United Fruit Company and several hotels. Chinese merchants were also heavy losers.

Port Limon was in a flourishing condition, and the commercial interests of the city have been very large.

Removal of Rail Results in Freight Wreck In Illinois—Two Trainmen Killed.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Two men were killed and one fatally injured by the derailment of a freight train on the Chicago and Alton at Lawndale, near here, today. The dead:

CHARLES EATON, engineer.
FIREMAN WILSON.

Fatally injured:

B. F. STRIMPTON, brakeman.

The wreck was caused by the removal of a rail by a section gang making repairs. It is said they failed to post any danger signals.

ARE QUICK TO SEE.

Good Doctors are Quick to See and Appreciate Real Merit in New Medicines.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a discovery of great value to the medical profession and the public. They are an unfailing specific in all cases of dyspepsia and disordered digestion.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing they do for it is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which in many cases are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two tablets—give them needed help and you will have no trouble.

It's a common sense medicine and a common sense treatment and it will cure every time. Not only cure the disease, but cure the cause. Go about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However—

Mrs. E. M. Faith of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says: "I have taken all the Tablets from one of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel like a different person altogether. I don't doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time.

H. E. Willard, Onslow, Iowa, says: "Mr. White of Canton was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of dyspepsia from which he had suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself, I wish you to send me a package by return mail."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them.

It will cost you nothing to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them—that's the best way to decide.

All druggists sell them. A little book on stomach diseases will be mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

Never before in the history of the Seventh Regiment, has there been such a wholesale enthusiasm for burning powder, as this fall. The result is to be seen in creditable scores in the State shoots, now in progress.

The Seventh has always done fine work at the targets, but the standard is now higher than before the regiment reorganized at the outbreak of the war. Some of the northern regiments have, on the other hand, gone to pieces as marksmen since the Spanish war.

The State shoots have not been completed, but so far, Co. M of Riverside, leads the regiment. Co. M has for years been turning out some of the best riflemen in the State service. Of the city companies, Co. A leads in target scores.

By constant practice, A has brought up its marksmanship to nearly twice the point of the shoots just prior to the war.

Sergt. Harry Miles, the veteran nonpareil, has hit on a scheme to increase the score of A Company at the targets. He is reloading empty shells with better powder and heavier bullets than the regulation State issue. The State bullets weigh 405 grains; Co. A's, 440. The increased weight is said to count at the 200 and 500-yard ranges, insuring more accuracy than the lighter ammunition.

There is a good deal of discussion among the guardsmen concerning the propriety of Sunday shoots. It is the only day that most of the men can get off. Some of the company commanders are unwilling to order shoots for that day, and Lieut. Thaxter, the regimental inspector of small-arm practice, usually refuses to inspect on that day.

Co. I of Pasadena is about the only company having an arrangement which makes week-day shoots entirely practicable. The Pasadena business men grant the guardsmen in their employ, by agreement, time to shoot during the week.

The Last Trophy.

New regulations governing the contests for the sharpshooters' medal presented by Gen. Last, are being planned. The rules under which the contest since 1897 have been shot, are entirely unsatisfactory.

The medal is now held from State shoot to State shoot, and there is usually much delay about its award.

Lieut. Thaxter and others interested propose that hereafter it shall be shot for every month. It is part of the plan to hold twelve State shoots a year, one company shooting every month.

The various winners of the medal then are to come together at a special contest at the end of the year. The winner of this contest is to be given a trophy medal to become his exclusive property, in token of his championship for that year.

The Last medal is now held by Private France of Co. K, San Bernardino. He has won it several times.

It is not improbable that a new medal will be purchased by the regiment to be shot for by that organization alone, in contests similar to the Last medal contests. The Last medal is open to all the organizations of the First Brigade.

Military Signaling.

Capt. Lawrence and Sergt. Washburn of the First Brigade, Signal Corps, are making experiments in wireless telegraphy. The results have been fairly satisfactory, but the distances accomplished have not been great.

The Signal Corps is sending two squads of men out in the Westlake district every Sunday. Communication is established with both heliographs and flags.

Frequently both squads are mounted on bicycles. Very few evolutions are attempted for the bike-corps. No regular bicycle has been adopted, as in many Signal Corps.

Orders Published.

Regimental Orders No. 12 have made their appearance. They relate principally to routine matters.

Lieut. G. O. Lockwood of Co. A is appointed to supervise the October target practice of Co. C, in place of Maj. Wankowski on leave.

The field and staff officers, who live in Los Angeles, and the regimental band, are ordered to parade for target practice under the supervision of Maj. J. L. A. Last, October 6 and 7.

Company commanders are requested to admonish the recruits in regard to the customs of the service in regard to saluting.

Upon recommendation of company commander the following members of this regiment have been honorably discharged for the reasons stated:

Co. A. Private John M. Magnone, enlisted July 6, 1897, exp. of term; Private William H. Wachtel, enlisted October 3, 1899, good of service.

Co. F. Sergeant T. O. H. Bogalsky, enlisted March 27, 1899, vote of co.; Private John O. Dockery, enlisted November 27, 1899, removal; Private George H. Woodward, enlisted April 25, 1898, vote of co.

Co. M. Private Rez La Rue, enlisted September 7, 1896, removal; Private John A. Eason, enlisted January 3, 1899, removal.

Upon recommendation of company commander, Corporals Charles T. Bullard and Clarence U. Good of Company A are reduced to the ranks, the date of reduction being October 1, 1900.

Upon their own request, approved by the company commander, First Sergeant R. C. Prentiss and Corporal R. C. Guyer of Company F are hereby reduced to the ranks, the date of reduction being October 1, 1900.

Upon recommendation of company commanders the following appointments of non-commissioned officers are hereby ordered, with rank in each case from October 1, 1900:

Privates Orton C. Holden and Clement Schmits of Company A to be corporals.

Privates Ray Rogers and Robert A. C. Mytton of Company C to be corporals.

Sergeant Lawrence E. Meyer of Company F to be first sergeant.

Corporal Harry H. Morgan of Company F to be sergeant.

Privates George Bacon, Harry J. Hawvichorst and Charles A. Dalton to be corporals.

Private Francis M. Bruner of Company L to be corporal.

A Last Sergeant.

Bogalsky, the sergeant mustered out of Co. F, was one of the most interesting characters in the regiment.

He used to be a trooper in one of the crack cavalry regiments of the German army, and served with distinction during the Franco-Prussian war. For gallantry, in one of the fights of that war, he was promoted on the field of battle from trooper to captain.

During the Spanish war, Bogalsky enlisted in the Seventh regiment and went to San Francisco with that organization.

Gay Festivities.

Already engagements are being made for the holiday balls. The Signal Corps has spoken for the armory on Thanksgiving night, and Co. A for New Years' night.

MRS. RUBENS'S ROBBERS.

Two Notorious Characters Suspected by the Cuban Police—Crime Planned in Advance.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HAVANA, Oct. 14.—[By West Indian Cable.] The police of this city have cabled to the French authorities that, September 15, two well-known and suspicious characters, Jiminez Capois and Hernandez Febles, sailed for Spain on the same steamer as Mrs. Horatio Rubens, who was robbed of money and jewelry estimated at more than $20,000 in value, on a trip between Havana and Paris. The police authorities in Spain were also informed that a third man on board the steamer is also suspected of knowing something about the robbery.

It is believed that a plot to rob Mrs. Rubens was concocted in Havana, and that other persons were concerned in it. The latter are believed to be in the United States. The Spanish authorities were advised, prior to the arrival of the steamer Ciudad de Cadiz at Sanzander, October 30, that it was probable an attempt at robbery would be made. But the suspected persons were not arrested. One of the suspects, a Cuban, was on the same train as Mrs. Rubens when the robbery occurred.

Mrs. Horatio Rubens lived at Sherrys, New York, until recently. As already cabled, she left Havana last month for Paris, going by way of Madrid.

FEWER MEN, BUT NO PAY.

School Board Clause in New Charter.

Changes Proposed by the Freeholders.

Much Remaining to be Done to Complete the Work of the Framers.

The Board of Education of Los Angeles will consist of six members, elected at large, if the new charter now being framed by the freeholders is adopted, and the members will hold their offices for four years, serving without pay.

There are now nine members of the board, one elected from each ward of the city, and there was an inclination on the part of some of the freeholders not to change the system. The proposition to have only six members was the recommendation of the Committee on Education, and it carried only after a long controversy, although ten of the twelve members present voted in favor of the committee report.

An amendment was offered to the report to the effect that the members of the Board of Education be given the same pay as will be given Councilmen, but this also failed.

A proposition to give the City School Superintendent almost undisputed power over dismissals of teachers was defeated, although it was part of the recommendation of the committee.

As adopted the report gives the Board of Education sole power to appoint, employ and dismiss, subject to civil-service regulations, all employes of the school department. The report added to this section the words: "provided, however, that no deputy superintendent or teacher shall be appointed or employed without the confirmation of the City Superintendent." It was this clause that was stricken out.

The freeholders also voted down a clause allowing the Board of Education to withhold a part or all of the wages or salary of any member of the department for cause.

Hardly had the last-named objection been disposed of when the report continued that no teacher employed in the department shall be dismissed except upon the recommendation of the City Superintendent, in which recommendation either the deputy superintendent or the principal having immediate charge shall occur. This also was voted down.

The terms of probation of school teachers, in so far as the board has power to discharge them without preferring charges, was reduced from one year to six months.

The freeholders also inserted in the article a clause prohibiting the Board of Education from insuring the property of the school department, the sense of the charter framers being that the city could far better afford to insure its own property than to pay out the amount which it at present requires to carry the insurance on school buildings.

School teachers will be hired by the year, according to the proposed charter, and paid in ten equal installments, "but if the Board of Education shall by order curtail the school year to less than ten months no salaries shall be paid for the months or days during which, by reason of such order, no schools are in session."

The quoted clause is an amendment which was the cause of an extended controversy. Mr. Millard, chairman of

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.
Los Angeles, Oct. 18, 1900.

NEW YORK MONEY. The call for money at New York for use at interior points to move the crops is still active. Besides this the outflow of gold has been renewed, not in large volume, but enough to tighten the market for the movement. Still there is not much fear of a gold famine in this country. The Klondyke region has sent to the San Francisco mint for three months, July to September 30, in gold, $16,047,552, and from Nome there came $2,311,501, a total from Alaska of $18,359,254. The receipts from all sources were $23,324,510. That is the San Francisco mint alone.

COMMERCIAL.

DECIDUOUS FRUIT SENT EAST. The Southern Pacific Company furnishes figures showing that there were sent east during the season just closed 5000 carloads of deciduous fruits from California, compared with 3855 carloads in the previous season.

DEMAND FOR PEAS. There has also been, says the Baltimore report in the New York Commercial, an active demand for all grades of peas. The best of them are selling rapidly at asking prices. It is unusual for the pea market to be so active at this time of the year. If the jobbers have not enough of this line for their winter wants, I commence to wonder where the supply for the Spring trade is to come from.

They are not here, and from all accounts the western packers are sold out. It looks to me like the present is a very good time to take up this subject. The best grades are offered at $1.06 for standards, $1.15 for sifted, $1.40 for extra sifted, and the finest petit pois at $1.80. There are cheaper grades offered at 5c to 10c per dozen less.

String beans are still 50c. Very little inquiry for them at the week, excepting at 47½c. It is too late to get them at the old price now. They will hang at 50c for a week, and then move up to 55c.

Lima beans have gone out of sight and use, so far as this market is concerned. The crop was almost an entire failure. There won't be any more canned here this season. The few on hand are held firm at $2.75.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

SIBERIA. The British commercial agent in Russia, in a report just issued by the Foreign Office, which is reproduced by the London Globe, gives an account of the physical feature of the country through which the Trans-Siberian Railway is to pass. He declares that it is not too much to say that the completion of this gigantic thoroughfare, which is to bring Paris into direct overland communication with Vladivostok, will, commercially and otherwise, be one of the greatest events of the opening years of the new century.

Preceding to describe Siberia, he states that, broadly speaking, under the name of Siberia is usually included all the territories of Russia beyond the Urals, all Asiatic Russia, except the Trans-Caucasus, Caspian and Turkestan regions, or, in other words, the vast space of territory stretching from the Polar Ocean to the Chinese frontiers and from the Urals to the Pacific. It embraces two vast governments of the Obi basin, Tobolsk and Tomsk, known as Western Siberia; two belonging to the basin of the Yenisei, those of Yenesisk and Irkutsk, as well as the Yakutch territory, washed by the Lena, Yana, Indigirka and Kolima rivers, all forming the so-called Eastern Siberia, and from an administrative point of view the Governor-Generalship of Irkutsk; two "oblasts," or regions, those of Akmolinsk and Semipalatinsk, the northwestern parts of the Central Asian steppes, and, administratively, the Governor-Generalship of the steppes, and, lastly, the Amur-Primorskaia borderland, or Governor-Generalship of the Amur, consisting of the extreme northeastern frontier zones along the Bering Sea, Sea of Okhotsk and Kamtchatka, with the island of Sakhalin. The total area covered within the boundaries enumerated is over 12,000,000 squarts versts, or, in other words, is an expanse of territory one and a half times the size of Europe.

The population, according to the census of January, 1897, was 7,081,244, as against 5,430,500 in 1863. The increasing number of immigrants has probably now brought the total population up to over 8,000,000. The densest parts, comparatively speaking, are the governments of Tomsk and Tobolsk. The average distribution is 0.53 per square verst. Males predominate as regards numbers, the proportion of women varying according to the province, from 37 to 102 per 100 men, coming to a total average of 91 per 100 of the stronger sex. Among the large towns, two of which exceed 50,000 inhabitants, are Tomsk and Irkutsk, with 52,000 and 51,464 respectively, followed by Omsk with over 40,000, Barnaul, Blagoveshtchensk and Tiumen with 30,000 each, Krasnoyarsk with 24,000, and Petropavlovsk and Tobolsk with about 20,000 each. The inhabitants of the towns form but 8 per cent. of the general population, a small proportion, speaking little for the industrial activity of Siberia generally.

Dealing with a vast expanse of territory, exceeding in area the whole of Europe and some forty times the size of the British Isles, it would require a bulky volume to give any adequate idea of the diversities of the country and climate, its peoples and customs, its old and new land routes and immeasurable waterways, or in general to describe the resources and possibilities included in the term Siberia. What it is, and at the same time what it might be, even when duly considering its extensive polar wastes, is seen from the fact that the total population of this Greater Russia has but lately begun to exceed that of London.

It will be to Russia's increasing millions what British dependencies have been to the United Kingdom. The railroad now approaching completion will give the desired impetus to colonization and development, and, by making the whole country a vast transit route between east and west, open it out to the whole world.

Citrus-fruit Shipments.

There were shipped out from Southern California Monday one carload of lemons, one of oranges, making a total for the season of all citrus fruits of 5,740 carloads.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

LOS ANGELES MARKETS.

Winchester and 6'er beeons are off ½ of a cent. Rex pure lards are easier.

Dried fruits are all dull. Syndicate nuts are being moved East rapidly.

Live stock and fresh meats are firm.

The butter market is firm. No San Francisco creamery is selling here. Receipts of Coast butter are light. Local creameries are doing most of the business here. The San Francisco market is a little easier.

Ranch eggs are firm at 26 to 31 cents. Eastern eggs are firm at 21 to 26 cents for standard, and 24 to 25 cents for extra select.

Cheese is steady.

Good and fancy potatoes are firm. Some fancy Oregon potatoes are due to arrive here the latter part of this week. Merced sweets are on the market at $1.50 a cental. Onions are steady. Cabbage is firm. Other vegetables make no important changes.

Live poultry was quiet yesterday. Game is moving slowly. Prices are easy. Small fish, especially smelt, are plentiful. Halibut and other large fish are scarce.

New pink and Lady Washington beans are easier. The San Francisco market made quiet a drop.

Apples and bananas meet with a ready demand. Fancy Oregon Spitzenburg apples are bringing $1.35 a box. Lemons are dull. Oranges are nominal there being no business. Berries are too dear to be in much demand.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The stock market today demonstrated convincingly how large a short interest had been eliminated in the course of yesterday's wholesale demand for stocks, and the supporting influence of this element deprived the bull pools of a very effective source of strength. The campaign for the rise was by no means abandoned. On the contrary, very powerful and resoureful efforts were made towards continuing the upward movement of prices. The notable buying of the day was in Union Pacific, in which transfers of 1000, 1200 and even 3000 share lots were frequently recorded. It was the advance in price that brought out those offerings, and they were confidently absorbed by the brokers having the advance in charge. On the frequent reactions the volume of dealings, both in this and in other stocks, which manipulated for a rise fell away notably, leading to recurrent periods of dullness during the day. But these movements by the bull party did not become prominent until after very large selling to realize had been accomplished. The greater part of the first hour was given up to furious activity and a somewhat wavering upward movement, marking the feeding of outside demand by those who had accumulated stocks at the lower level. The taking of profits during this period must have been on a very large scale. The subsequent efforts to resume the advance met with a number of drawbacks, and the heavy undertone gained force. The closing was distinctly heavy, with prices below the best and not losses in some important stocks while the striking net gains were confined to comparatively few cases. Partly as a cause and partly as an effect, there was a recurrence of some of the depressing sentiments regarding the speculative feature which have long overhung the market. The fact emerged with some clearness that the large short interest which was driven to cover yesterday had been actuated to take the bear side by drawing an analogy with the corresponding period in the last Presidential campaign, when the stock market was violently disturbed and rapidly declining. The sudden brightening in the money outlook by reason of Saturday's bank statement and the gold import movement gave the bulls an opportunity for swift turn against their opponents. There was some positive weakness in People's Gas, as a result of the proposition for municipal control of the selling price of the product and some of the steel stocks gave evidence of the depression. There were recessions in the Anthracite coalers on the delay of the strike settlement. These and other like minor conditions would have figured in yesterday's rush to buy, but in the pause today they had added influence. Bonds showed a continuance of yesterday's improved conditions, prices generally advancing on an enlarged demand. Total sales, $2,170,000. U. S. refunding 2s and the old 4s advanced ½ on the last call.

London Financial Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says: "The markets here were quiet and firm today, and securities were the feature of New York orders and professional buying based upon the favorable monetary news. There was more selling than dealing, however. Copper shares were good on the fortnightly statistics, showing sales of 9000 tons. The bank lost $21,000 gold in French coin; $23,000 to South America, and $50,000 to Egypt."

New York Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Money on call firm at 5@6%; per cent; last loan, 5%. Prime mercantile paper, 5@6 per cent. Sterling exchange is steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.84½ for demand and at 4.81½@4.82 for sixty days; posted rates, 4.81½ and 4.85½. Commercial bills, 4.80½@4.81. Silver certificates, 61@62c. Bar silver, 62c. Mexican dollars, 48c. Government bonds, strong; State, inactive; railroad, firm.

Gold Engaged for Import.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—It is announced that Goldman, Sachs & Co. have engaged $1,000,000 gold for import. Lazard Freres are announced as engagement of $600,000 in gold, which is on the way, in addition to previous announcements. This brings the total of gold engaged on the present movement to date to $3,100,000.

Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Today's statement of the treasury gives the following: Available cash balance, $132,174,654; gold, $98,742,782.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The most activity in wheat was at the start. A flie drop at Hamburg and weak cables from Liverpool gave rise to irregular opening. December was quoted all the way from 70½ to 71. Liverpool standings proved the most influential factor, as they showed the most substantial sales of wheat at Minneapolis and the sale of a cargo at Antwerp, the first in sixteen months, were later features. Trade was quiet and in a moderate way by shorts, bulls making only an occasional investment. Outside trade, as usual, was painfully conspicuous by its absence. Northwestern country arrived from the opening to 70½. The arrivals caused more profit-taking. December, 69½@70; May, 71½@71½. Corn was active and firm. December closed ½c higher. Oats were quiet, but firm. December closed ½c up. Provisions started easy and were soon somewhat irregular, but best considered the session fairly steady. Big receipts were over the estimate, and lower prices at the yards discouraged buying and heavy selling. December lard weakened the whole line. The grain strength later caused a recovery, but this was mostly lost on profit-taking. January pork closed 5c higher; lard 2½c lower, and ribs a shade down.

The leading futures closed as follows:

Physicians in Favor of New Charter.

Indorsed by Twenty-five at a Meeting.

Action of the City Council. Progress in Public Library. Other News Notes.

PASADENA, Oct. 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] That the physicians of Pasadena are in favor of the proposed charter was made evident this evening when twenty-five representatives of the profession gathered at the home of Dr. J. H. McBride to discuss the document. Dr. McBride, as president of the Pasadena Society and as a citizen, has taken an active interest in every movement for the good of the city, and it was upon his invitation that the meeting was held. After a few introductory remarks explanatory of the personal expression of individual members of the charter, Dr. McBride opened the meeting by calling upon Dr. Hunt, who said in substance:

"I can see there is hardly a citizen of the charter. There are important particulars it does not contain, and I shall vote for it. I favor the limitation of taxation to one per cent. of $100, I think it would be well that this rate will be sufficient for the school taxes and that the rate for interest, parks and other purposes is provided for by bond issue. I favor the concentration of the greatest needs of the city in the hands of the Mayor, the initiative and referendum being among the best features of the charter. The health provisions are also very good. I favor the charter as being among the best implicit confidence in the intelligence of Freeholders and their work. I had great faith in the wisdom of the new charter and would vote for it, as he believed it would be found some fault with it. Some advancement for the charter as it is, and the adoption of the new charter would be a great advancement over the present one, and I favor the adoption of the new charter."

Dr. Hunt was one of the Freeholders who framed the new instrument, and which he called attention to the fact that it had received but little criticism. The liberal school laws provided for the opportunity provided for the establishment of the school system of Pasadena, that the control of the school system of Pasadena, that the control of the school system of Pasadena, that the control

Reported Burglary.

It is reported that the grocery, hay, feed and feed store of Peter Maiconovo, No. 409 East Seventh street, was burglarized early Sunday morning, the thief carrying away a quantity of hay, groceries, etc.

Nearly Lost Thumb.

W. H. Johnson of No. 332 East Fifth street was chopping wood yesterday at the residence of Mr. Fitzwilliams, No. 1253 South Main street, when he sustained a severe cut at the base of the thumb, nearly severing it from the hand.

Pummeled With a Bottle.

Walter Keefe of No. 727 Kohler street was patched up at the Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon. He had five cuts on his face, which he said were inflicted by two strangers with whom he had a physical encounter, and who belabored him with a bottle.

Temperance Talks.

Maj. George A. Hilton, the well-known temperance orator, will speak twice in Los Angeles on Sunday. Both meetings will be held in the First Methodist Church, corner of Sixth and Hill streets, the first taking place at 9:45 o'clock in the afternoon, and the second address being scheduled for 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Presbyterian Pastorate.

The First Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles is ready to extend a formal call to Rev. Henry W. Moore of El Paso, Tex., if that gentleman should decide to accept the pastorate. He met with the supply Committee of the church yesterday morning and left for his home at El Paso in the afternoon, to consider the subject for a week. His congregation there is loth to have him leave.

Pastor Welcomed.

The congregation of the Newman Methodist Episcopal Church, corner of Seventh street and Towne avenue, extended a hearty reception to its new pastor, Rev. H. W. White, last evening. The church was beautifully decorated and was crowded. Mr. Cating spoke a welcome on behalf of the church, Master Morgan (the Sunday-school), and J. W. Mason (the Epworth League). Rev. Mr. White responded feelingly. Refreshments were served.

Gets No Damages.

The second trial of the damage suit brought by Frank Bollinger, Jr., through his guardian, F. Bonzo, against the Los Angeles Traction Company, came to an end in the Federal Court yesterday. The jury found in favor of the defendant company. On the first trial the jury disagreed. While riding a bicycle several months ago Bollinger was struck by a Traction car at Twelfth and Hill streets and his ankle so badly injured that the foot had to be amputated.

RACING KINGS ARRIVE.

Butler's String of Grand Circuit Winners Stabled at Agricultural Park Ready for the Fall Race Meet.

Myron McHenry, the well-known turfman, arrived yesterday with James Butler's string of famous racers, that have been entered in the fall race meet, which opens at Agricultural Park next Saturday.

Anconda, the "kangaroo," heads the list of pacers. His record of 2:02¼ places him among the three fastest side-wheelers in the world.

Casey, with a record of 2:02¾, takes second place only by a quarter of a second.

Nettie G., 2:08¼, and Bunnie Direct, 2:08¾, are also stabled at the park ready to meet all comers in the pacing battles to take place there.

In the same car came Searchlight, 2:08¼, in charge of Knapp McCarty, who is confident his pride will give the "kangaroo" the race of his life when they meet in the free-for-all pace next Saturday. Mr. Mills, owner of Searchlight, is expected to arrive this week.

Butler's string, which also includes Guyton, a trotter with a record of 2:07, is the heaviest winner on the Grand Circuit this year.

Little Thorn and Clipper are also stabled at the park. Both are entered in the free-for-all pace, and while it is not expected they will carry off first and second money, it is quite probable they will give a good account of themselves. At San José last week Little Thorn in a try-out paced a mile in 2:06. The competition pacing record on a California track of the year, however, is held by Clipper, who made his mile in 2:06 at Santa Rosa.

Other fast ones will arrive today.

Candidate Savage.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] William H. Savage of San Pedro, Republican candidate for the Assembly for the Seventy-second District, is a veteran of the Civil War. He entered the navy at the age of 15 and served on the U. S. sloop of war Mississippi, under Melancthon Smith as commander and George Dewey, now admiral, as executive officer. The ship was lost at the battle of Port Hudson, and Savage was taken prisoner by the Confederates. He got a taste of life in Libby Prison. Subsequently he became quartermaster-sergeant of the Thirty-second U. S. Infantry, and served in Arizona during the Indian troubles of 1868. He came back to Los Angeles county in 1874, and four years later was admitted to practice law. Going to Arizona, he became interested in politics, was elected to the Territorial Legislature, and served afterward as City Attorney of Tombstone and District Attorney of Cochise county. Thirteen years ago he resumed the practice of his profession in Southern California, and in 1898 became City Attorney of San Pedro. He is prominent in fraternal orders and knows everybody around San Pedro Harbor, having first settled in Wilmington in 1868. He has always been a hard-working Republican.

The American Hospital Nurse Girl.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15, 1900.—[To the Editor of The Times:] During many travels throughout different parts of the globe, my greatest curiosity has always been in visiting hospitals. There is no country on this great earth that can beat the American nurse girl. Send a reporter, or go yourself, to the California Hospital on Hope and Fifteenth streets, and you will see a modern institution, where you don't even smell a drug; the patients in beautiful, clean and airy rooms, and an army of American nurse girls who well deserve the name of guardian angels. Their neatness, willingness and patience make you feel like jumping off of a car or doing something to make you sick, in order to go to the hospital and be nursed by those noble girls. Is there a country on earth where you find such girls except the United States? I for one say no; and I therefore claim that the American nurse girl cannot be equaled in any part of the universe.

Yours truly,

R. SOLEWORTHY.

[Hear! hear!]

China Missionaries.

PASADENA, Oct. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Noticing in the Associated Press dispatches in your issue of this date, an item headed "Missionary Looters," in which this sentence occurs: "Some of the most persistent looters have been the missionaries," etc., I beg to call attention to extracts from a letter written by Miss Abbie Chapin, for many years a missionary in China, stationed in the vicinity of Peking. Miss Chapin says among other things, that they were permitted to take their refugees to the deserted palace of a prince, covering several acres, and full of fine things, all to be had for the taking, and that it is a demoralizing condition for them and their 150 refugees to stick to the necessary comforts of life and not be tempted to go beyond. "Rev. Mr. Tyndenbury, who is at the head of our place at Peking, is laying in winter stores for the refugees, and where he finds a man in his shop who has goods he gives him a written promise to pay for them, which the shop-keeper prefers to the money, as he would soon be robbed, but when he finds deserted goods he feels that the country which has despoiled us and the (native) Christians, owes us a living now."

Can we not read between the lines of this letter the purpose to adhere strictly to the right and the finest sense of what constitutes the right? And who that knows the character of the men and women who have left home and country that they might carry the blessings of Christian civilization to the dark places of the earth will be willing to accept the aspersions which are from time to time cast upon them as the truth?

E. G. DURANT.

[The above is a condemnation of the writer's statement.]

Get this Dean Soap.

Most three-for-a-quarter soaps are just ordinary soaps that come out of the same vat as five-cent soaps, but have a little more perfume or more fancy wrappers to justify the larger price.

The soaps we show in the window this week at 15 cents for a box of three cakes come from the same stock as the high-priced soaps, but have a little less perfume and are not so well milled as the finest soaps. But the soap quality is there. You can't miss it by buying largely of the varieties shown.

Oh! My Back!

Pains in the back, Dreidful other serious troubles. Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt cures.

It is wrong to neglect pains in the back. They often foretell an attack of Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Physical Breakdown, Lumbago and Rheumatism, any of which mean the hospital. Don't wait till you are knocked down and crippled, as then it may be too late. When you feel its first pang, you should at once begin to wear THE DR. McLAUGHLIN ELECTRIC BELT. It will cure you. It gives strength to weak nerves and muscles; pours glowing vitality into the body while you sleep. It breathes and cures the entire forenoon. A 68-page illustrated

FREE BOOK—If you will call you can understand how it cures. I will send my beautiful 68-page book, with full information, free by mail on request.

Some women objected to the faint odor which came from the old yellow COTTOLENE.

(In most cases they overheated it—burned it.)

It was not an objectionable odor like that from boiling cabbage, but

It was a new one.

And so we decided to do away with the odor entirely.

The result is shown in WHITE COTTOLENE, odorless, neutral.

"It looks good enough to eat," and its looks don't belie it.
